INDIAN I.T. INDUSTRY CREATED $103BN REVENUE IN U.S. IN 2021

The industry also provided direct employment to 2,07,000 people in the US, says a new study by Nasscom and IHS Markit

CONTRIBUTED $198 BILLION TO U.S. ECONOMY

The direct impact of the Indian tech industry has helped the US economy generate a total of $396 billion in sales to date, supporting 1.6 million jobs and contributing over $198 billion to the American economy — larger than the combined economies of 20 US states in 2021, according to the report by Nasscom and IHS Markit (now part of S&P global)

UPSKILLED 2.5 LAKH CURRENT EMPLOYEES

- Indian tech sector works with 75% of the Fortune 500 companies headquartered in the US, said Debjani Ghosh, Nasscom president
- The industry has played a significant role in expanding the talent pool outside of traditional tech hub states. Over 2.5 lakh current employees have been upskilled by the sector, the report noted

DRI detects ₹4,389 cr duty evasion by Oppo

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) has detected Customs duty evasion to the tune of ₹4,389 crore by the Indian arm of Chinese mobile company Oppo, the Union finance ministry said on Wednesday.

A show-cause notice has been issued to the company to recover the amount. Besides, penal action will be taken against Oppo India, its employees and Oppo China under various provisions of the Customs Act, 1962, the ministry added.

During the course of its investigation, the DRI conducted searches at the office premises of Oppo India and the residence of its key management officials and recovered "incriminating evidence indicating willful misdeclaration in the description of certain items imported by Oppo India for use in the manufacture of mobile phones".

This resulted in wrongful availment of ineligible duty exemption benefits by Oppo India amounting to ₹2,981 crore. Besides, the company evaded ₹1,408 crore levy by not disclosing its payments of royalty and licence fee to various multi-national companies. According to the Union finance ministry, these payments should have been added in the transaction value of the goods imported by the company. By not doing this, Oppo has violated Section 14 of the Customs Act, 1962, the ministry added.

Oppo India is engaged in the business of manufacturing, assembling, wholesale trading, distribution of mobile handsets and accessories thereof, across India.

THE Sri Lankan political crisis deepened further with President Gotabaya Rajapaksa fleeing to Maldives but failing to keep his word on resigning on Wednesday, notifying Prime Minister Ranil Wickremesinghe's appointment as acting president, and the latter declaring a state of Emergency and clamping curfew across the nation till 5 am on Thursday.

Angry protesters launched a massive protest in front of the Prime Minister's Office here, which was met with tear gas, water cannons, and baton charging, resulting in over 30 people being hospitalised. Protesters eventually stormed into the Prime Minister's Office, the fourth government building they came to occupy this week, and demanded Wickremesinghe's immediate resignation.

Later in the day, an emergency all-party meeting convened by Speaker Mahinda Yapa Abeywardena asked Ranil to immediately step down and pave the way for an all-party interim government headed by a new president from July 20.

Wickremesinghe sought to act tough, mobilising the armed forces and the police to bring the protests under control. His declaration of Emergency came in for quick questioning as the invoking of such powers is vested only in the executive president. Wickremesinghe's decisions were considered outside the scope of prime ministerial powers.

The appointment of Wickremesinghe as acting president was announced by the Speaker. This failed to quell the angry protests with people condemning Wickremesinghe as an authoritarian leader who unleashed violence on unarmed protesters to secure his political position.

In an afternoon address, Wickremesighe condemned the "fascist actions" of unruly mobs not inclined to honour the agreement made on July 9 to form an all-party interim government and to have a new president elected through a parliamentary vote on July 20.

Protesting groups also stormed into the premises of two national broadcasters, Sri Lanka Rupavahini Corporation and the Independent Television Network, and ordered the broadcast of protests alone till they are conclude.

Gotabaya is to fly to Singapore. His failure to resign despite his self-set deadline of July 13 fuelled protests. P12

ADGP Paul admits to 'oversight'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE 10-day police custody of former IPS officer and Additional Director General of Police (ADGP) Amrit Paul's, who was arrested in the police sub inspector (PSI) recruitment scam on July 4, will end on Thursday. A lot will depend on whether the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) will seek extension of his police custody. Police can seek maximum 14 days custody in a case. Paul will move for bail application if the court remands him to judicial custody (JC).

Sources said Paul has allegedly denied his involvement in the scam and is reported to have said that his subordinates and the staff at the educational institutions where examinations were held, let him down. To that extent he has allegedly admitted to his "oversight", according to informed sources.

Paul has however, reportedly denied receiving money in the scam. Sources said that candidates, who had fraudulently cleared the examination, had allegedly paid between Rs 30 lakh and Rs 80 lakh in cash through middlemen. P4

CM releases ₹500 crore for rain-relief works

CM Basavaraj Bommai listens to complaints of people affected by sea erosion in Maravanthe, Kundapur taluk of Udupi district on Wednesday.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai released Rs 500 crore for rain-relief and infrastructure restoration works in the state, on Wednesday.

The move comes in the wake of widespread devastation caused by heavy rain in various parts of the state, particularly in coastal districts, Malnad region, Kodagu and north Karnataka, which witnessed loss of human lives, damage to roads, bridges and electricity lines in the last few days.

Speaking to reporters in Udupi after chairing a meeting with officials and people's representatives of three coastal districts, the CM said that the priority of the state government is to make the damaged roads and small bridges motorable at the earliest. ''We will use the funds of Rs 500 crore for restoring infra facilities like road, small bridges and fallen electric poles," he said. He added that after a review of repair works, additional funds will be released. Bommai said that after data on district-level rain related damages is collated, additional funds from the Central government under National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) will be sought. P5

NSE academy to make state students fin-savvy

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

WITH an aim to enhance financial learning and awareness among students, the Karnataka government has signed a memorandum of understanding with the National Stock Exchange Academy Ltd (NSEAL).

The NSEAL will help in providing financial education and investment awareness courses to second year degree college students across Karnataka, starting with the ongoing academic year. Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan said it is expected that universities will include these courses in their curriculum.

"The Financial Education and Investment Awareness Course which will be introduced from the second year degree will empower students irrespective of streams they opt for, with sound financial knowledge and financial management skills. The course will benefit around five lakh students annually, beginning from the ongoing academic year itself," the minister said.

"The initiative has been taken now since there is an alternative skill enhancement provision where we can introduce courses like these. This course will be a financial awareness course for students to understand essential skills on finance management and investment." P4

Branch of reputed school shut for running illegally

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

Only a month after opening, the Magadi Road branch of the Orchids International School has been shut down for allegedly running without permission. Byadarahalli Police registered an FIR against Orchids International School based on a complaint by Block Education Officer (BEO) V Ramesh under the Karnataka Education Act, 1983.

According to the BEO, the school had not taken permission from the education department to run and had been illegally taking fees from parents for admissions. "Around 60 students who had been studying at the school have now been shifted to authorised schools in the vicinity and the school has been shut down," BEO Ramesh said.

Meanwhile, police found that the school had allegedly misappropriated funds on the pretext of collecting school fees and as many as 20 cases have been registered from parents on the issue.

"The school is currently under investigation, based on the complaint given by the BEO. They had also completed admissions for students," said DCP West, Laxman Nimbargi.

The BEO had taken action against the school following several complaints from parents against the school to the education department and the Real Estate Regulatory Authority (RERA) for several violations, besides non-compliance of court orders.

With the school chain headquartered in Mumbai, activist parents had noticed several inconsistencies with several branches of the chain run in Bengaluru which is why they had investigated whether the school was registered, or had relevant fire safety and building safety approvals.

While parents wish to remain anonymous, Karnataka State Private School and College Parent Associations Co-Ordination Forum President B N Yoganand said this issue was commonly reported in several schools, especially those like Orchids International School.

"We as an association have been urgently asking for police to immediately arrest both the principal and secretary of the school for misappropriation of funds," Yoganand said.

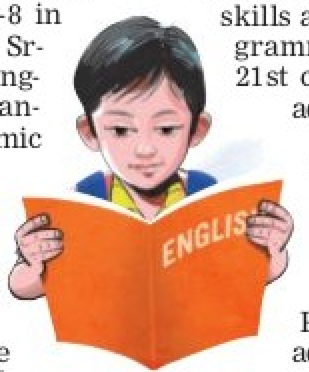
Orchids International School refused to respond on the matter. They, however, said they would issue a statement soon.

GOVT GIVES THRUST TO ENGLISH LEARNING

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

AT a time when language row is at the centre of school education, the education department is launching Project English to make government school students competitive.

The department recently signed an MoU with Bengaluru-based Lit Skills Learning to take up a pilot project for 120 students from grades 6-8 in schools in the KRS cluster of Srirangapatna taluk and for 30 English and Science teachers, handling grades 5-9 for the academic year 2022- 23. The project will be implemented in cooperation with the Mandya DDPI.



"It will be officially launched on July 19. Based on its success and the outcome of what children have learnt, it will be extended. The aim is to bring all government schools under the project and make students well versed with English. It is to build confidence among students and break their reluctance. The gap between government and private school students is huge. That needs to be filled," said a senior official of the education department.

Karthik Narayanan, founder-CEO of Lit Skills, who is heading the project, said the vision and mission of the project is to teach and train teachers on innovative methodologies of teaching, capacity building, life skills programme and communicative skills. The special focus will be on teaching English skills and science enrichment programmes to students, using the 21st century learning skills, he added.

Legendary scientist and Padma Bhushan awardee Nambi Narayanan has also welcomed the project and shown interest to be the brand ambassador for the Project, Karthik said, and added that school kids, especially from rural areas, should be well versed in English and science skills to be globally competitive to be successful. "Nambi Narayanan feels implementing Project English in rural schools will add a great meaning as over eight crore students graduate every year, but only a few are fit to be hired," he added.

Extend registration dates for CBSE students: UGC to colleges

BENGALURU: The University Grants Commission has requested all colleges to fix the last date of their admission process after the announcement of the CBSE results. Due to the pandemic, the CBSE conducted board exams for terms 1 and 2. The result for term 1 was already announced, but the evaluation of term 2 is going on and the process of result preparation will start soon. Many universities have started the registration process for undergraduate courses for 2022-23. In such cases, CBSE students will be deprived of admissions if the last date for registration is fixed prior to the announcement of the results. ENS

FREE LAPTOP SCHEME GETS BBMP CHIEF'S NOD

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

STUDENTS of Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike PUC and Degree colleges will soon get laptops as Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath has given the green signal to the proposal for free laptops at a cost of Rs 41.5 crore.

Confirming this, Palike Special Commissioner Ramprasat Manohar told New Indian Express that soon tenders for the scheme will be called for. "To start with, we will distribute 5,000 laptops. Later, more students will be covered."

The BBMP has 15 Pre-University and four Degree colleges with student strength of 4,398 and 1,104, respectively. The Palike also has two post-graduate colleges with 71 students. SC/ST, Backward Class and Minority students will be eligible.

Education expert Sashikumar said the Palike should have invested more on infrastructure like setting up of computer labs and replacing old desktops as well as hiring more teachers. "Giving laptops to only 5,000 may demotivate other students. At many computer centres of the Palike, there are no teachers and some cannot handle language programs like C+, Microsoft and others," he added.

Encroachment, NK Patil report figure in lake meet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

REPRESENTATIVES from several citizens groups from across the city took part in the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP)'s first public consultation meet on development of lakes.

The Palike aims to rejuvenate 28 lakes at a cost of Rs 229 crore under the Chief Minister's Amrutha Nagarathona Kriya Yojane.

"Encroachment clearance from lakes, implementation of Justice N K Patil report, ensuring zero percent sewage inflow into lakes and tapping rainwater and diverting it into lakes were some of the suggestions made by the participants. Most of it has been included in the Detailed Project Report (DPR) draft prepared for 11 lakes and now 17 lakes will be added to the list. The cost will be worked out and sent to Karnataka Tank Conservation and Development Authority (KTCDA) for approval," Mohan Krishna, Chief Engineer, BBMP Lakes Division, told TNIE.

> BBMP alone cannot maintain lakes, it needs local support. We want to make sure the money does not get wasted
> Tushar Girinath, BBMP Chief Commissioner

BBMP Lakes Division presented slides, photos and sketches for each lake. About 30 minutes were allotted to each citizen group to present their views. Once the KTCDA approves the budget, the BBMP will call for tender and a timeline will be fixed for each lake.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said, "We want to make sure our steps do not contradict views and expectations of resident groups and hence we had this consultation. BBMP alone cannot maintain lakes, it needs local support. We want to make sure the money does not get wasted."

HC bars pool, gym inside park

BENGALURU: Allowing a public interest litigation filed against the proposed construction of a swimming pool, multi gym and other structures inside Gayathri Devi Park in Prakash Nagar by Bruhat Bangalore Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), the Karnataka High Court made it clear that the rule permits construction of only pump-house and benches inside the park, and not structures likely to affect its utility.

Noting that the Karnataka Parks, Play Fields and Open Spaces (Preservation and Regulation) Act was enacted for providing space for rejuvenation for residents, and with a view to reserve parks and play fields, a division bench of Acting Chief Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice JM Khazi passed the order.

The petition was filed by J Srinivas and three others, questioning the proposed constructions in Gayathri Devi Park in Ward 98 in Rajajinagar assembly constituency.

14TH July : Today's numerology features the number three, an indicator of unity and harmonious solutions. Today is therefore a fine time for making peace. If there is anyone you have fallen out with now is the moment to hold out the hand of friendship. And, if people close to you are at loggerheads, perhaps there is something you can do to help.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
If you thrive on adventure and challenges, as astrologers say you do, you are now facing a different sort of hurdle to overcome: you may find yourself grappling with your inner desires, needs and motivations, rather than with worldly difficulties.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
You will have to continue to keep other people happy until a financial matter is sorted out. It may be of interest to know that the best business partners at the moment are likely to be female, young, or at least young at heart, and wonderfully vivacious.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Take no notice of people who seem to trying to deceive, exploit or overcharge you. Believe it or not, you have much more control over your financial situation than you imagine. I would advise you to seek watertight guarantees in return for every commitment.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
The simple truth of the matter is that you may be the cause of a little friction. To an extent this is unavoidable, for you must do what must be done. However, you should also avoid treading on toes unless absolutely necessary, even inadvertently.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Stunning planetary aspects are always welcome, but they don't necessarily encourage you to do what you want. Today, you must do what is essential, and that means playing fair by others. Also, try to follow the spirit of the law by giving rivals the benefit of the doubt.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
At work it is who you know that's important. Don't worry about being efficient. It's not the number of words per minute that counts, but the size of your smile and the frequency of encouraging comments that will win support. If you cheer other people up, then they'll respond in kind.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
There should be fewer arguments or conflicts about major issues in future. However, you're now entering a period when people are likely to be increasingly irritated by what seems to be your failure to accept the facts as they see them. They're probably wrong, but you'll never convince them of that!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It's time for some serious forward planning. Looking ahead, you can now anticipate illumination in the partnership department. Deep down, you know that there are a number of major obstacles to be cleared, and it seems from your chart as if they are indeed about to be swept out of the way.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Consistency is a virtue, and if you stick to your opinions all will be well. Other people are likely to be attracted to you, even romantically, if they see you as someone who is sensible and wise. It's a busy moment, by the way, so don't let routine tasks pile up.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Instead of being morose because you lost out in the past, how about having a stab at becoming a success in the future? It is never too late, and partners are now ready to respond to your challenge. You respect people who are prepared to stand up to you much more than those who agree with your every word.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Relationships with children and younger relatives should be showing an improvement. There is every indication that such people, in company with the rest of us, will look up to you all the more if you express your real feelings. In love, the golden rule is to keep talking.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The need for solitude was always an important part of your character. Today this quality combines with a fascinating need to communicate - perhaps you'll be talking to yourself more than usual! As a matter of interest, you're in an increasingly confident mood, more convinced than ever that you'll come out on top.

K'taka awaits central guidelines for free booster

Move as part of 'Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav'

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

WHILE the Union Health Ministry has announced that precautionary dose would be given free of cost for those above 18 years of age, for 75 days from July 15 as part of 'Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav', the State Government is awaiting central guidelines to get started, said Dr Arundathi Chandrashekar, Mission Director of State, National Health Mission, who is also in charge of the vaccination drive.

She said the ministry will hold a video conference with all States on Thursday, where details related to the free vaccination drive will be made clear. While the Union health ministry has approved vaccination for kids below 12 years, the drive will start after the Centre sends guidelines, she added.

So far, only 8.68 per cent or 42,49,707 people above 18 years of age, of the target population of 4,89,16,000, are vaccinated with the precautionary dose in the State. Among 4,08,74,700 adults between 18 and 59 years who are vaccinated with the second dose, only 0.96% (3,93,383) is vaccinated with the booster dose. Of 74,05,367 double-vaccinated adults above 60 years of age, only 35.84 per cent are vaccinated with the booster dose.

"The booster dose for those above 60 years of age is already free of cost. But the booster dose for those between 18 and 59 years of age is available only at private hospitals, and is charged, so there was some reluctance for a booster dose in this age group. Since it is going to be free of cost for 75 days, it is expected to boost precautionary dose vaccination among those between 18 and 59 years," health officials said.

On Wednesday, Covid cases in Karnataka jumped to 1,231, including 1,124 in Bengaluru. The day's positivity rate touched 4.78 per cent in the state, and 6.6 per cent in Bengaluru.

128 women's clinics to come up in cities

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

WOMEN can soon feel more comfortable about addressing their health issues, with the State health department planning to launch 128 women's clinics in urban areas in August. While 57 clinics will be in BBMP areas in Bengaluru, the remaining will be located in other cities across the state, according to Dr Arundathi Chandrashekar, Mission Director, National Health Mission. "Karnataka will be the first to launch such public clinics in the entire country," she said.

"The women's clinics will be set up along the lines of well women clinics of the private sector, to address adolescents and women related issues, screening, counselling, family planning services, anti-natal care and others. These clinics will be part of Urban Public Health Centres, where a separate portion or room is allocated to examine women. This is to ensure privacy and comfort during treatment. We started 10 such clinics in Mysuru on a pilot basis recently, and there is good response to it," Dr Arundathi said.

Mysuru District Health Officer Dr Prasad K H said women's clinics in Mysuru are seeing at least 50 to 100 female patients per day. The staff include a woman doctor and nurses, he said.

Reacting to the concept of women's clinics in the government sector, noted gynaecologist Dr Padmini Prasad said, "Although doctors treat both male and female patients equally, even in this advanced era, at least 20 per cent of women from orthodox and even educated backgrounds hesitate to see a male doctor, especially for gynaecological issues and delivery. Many women who hide their problems related to extreme bleeding and other issues, reach us late with prolapsed uterus and advanced stages of cancer."

These clinics will help women share their personal, private, confidential matters with female doctors, and many problems can be addressed in the beginning itself, and treated, Dr Prasad said. "It will be convenient if such clinics are started in rural areas too."

Health insurance demand soars

Bengaluru: Bengaluru is among the top three cities in India where demand for health insurance is high. Demand shot up by 321% post Covid in the country, shows a survey by JustDial. Bengaluru is among the leading three Tier-I cities with maximum demand for health insurance, the other two being Delhi and Mumbai. The growth rate for health insurance in Tier-II cities is almost double that of Tier-I cities, the survey showed. According to the JustDial Consumer Insight report, the demand for travel insurance jumped by 44%, on the back of an international travel boom. Most of the demand for travel insurance came from Tier-I cities that saw a growth of 28%. ENS

Two friends killed in wall collapse

Bengaluru: Two men, who went to attend nature's call, were killed after the compound of a dilapidated building collapsed on them. The incident occurred at Kimco Junction near Deepanjali Nagar on Tuesday. The deceased are Bala, 30, and Rajamani, 35, both residents of Valmiki Nagar near Chamarajpet. Bala was a mason while Rajamani was a flower vendor. Police said the duo was childhood friends. They had gone to a bar in Deepanjali Nagar along with two other friends. While returning, they went close to the dilapidated building of Agro More Pvt Ltd near Kimco Junction to urinate. Meanwhile, the compound collapsed on the duo and they were buried under the debris. ENS

Personal assistant main suspect in robbery on astrologer's house

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE attack and robbery on astrologer Pramod Kumar's house in Kengeri on the morning of July 10 took an interesting twist, with the needle of suspicion pointing towards his own personal assistant. The latter was allegedly upset with the victim as he did not help her financially.

She reportedly gave supari to three men, and was in the victim's house on the day of the robbery. The accused had even tied up her hands and legs, to make the robbery attempt appear more authentic.

Hiding in Salem

She was also present when police visited the scene of crime. The main accused is said to have been hiding in Salem with the other three accused, from where they were picked up.

Kumar, 45, was in his house near Kengeri Railway Station, when robbers barged inside and attacked him with a knife. They escaped with around 400gm of gold and Rs 5lakh in cash.

Police found out that the gang was in the house for some time and this made them suspect something amiss. Police also suspected the personal assistant's role from the beginning.

The police reportedly picked up four accused from Salem in Tamil Nadu. Three of the men are from Tamil Nadu. The accused had kept the gold ornaments in a house in the city. The movements of the four were captured on CCTV cameras in the vicinity.Further investigations are on.

SIDDARAMOTSAVA SHOULDN'T DAMAGE CONGRESS: MP SURESH

Rift evident as DKS holds Freedom March meet, skips Siddaramotsava panel meeting

CLP leader Siddaramaiah greets former DyCM Dr G Parameshwara at the Siddaramotsava preparatory meeting in Bengaluru on Wednesday

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

DIFFERENCES within Karnataka Congress over 'Siddaramotsava' came to the fore on Wednesday with party leaders holding two simultaneous meetings at different venues in Bengaluru. While Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah and several party leaders were at the Palace Grounds attending the preparatory meeting of 'Siddaramotsava', KPCC chief DK Shivakumar was busy holding a meeting with other leaders at the party office to discuss the party's Freedom March. Only a few leaders, like Eshwar Khandre and KJ George, managed to attend both the meetings.

Siddaramaiah's supporters have planned a public meeting in Davanagere on August 3 to celebrate his 75th birthday.

While Shivakumar maintained that he does not want any celebrations in his name and instead wants a Congress celebration, his brother and Bengaluru Rural MP DK Suresh expressed concerns over 'Siddaramotsava'. At the Palace Grounds meeting, he said, "It (Siddaramotsava) should not send a wrong message to workers. We are in an election year. We must ensure that the event does not damage the party."

Congress worker GC Raju wrote a letter to the Siddaramotsava committee urging them to celebrate Shivakumarotsava-23 as the KPCC chief turned 60 recently. He exhorted the committee to organise the event as lakhs of party workers wanted it to happen. But Shivakumar had said he preferred to celebrate his birthday with his family at Kedarnath.

When media persons asked him if he was attending the Siddaramotsava committee meeting, Shivakumar replied in the negative. "I have been invited (for the event in Davanagere) and I will attend it along with Rahul Gandhi as the guest. For me, the party is above all and I want our party to come back to power in 2023," he added.

Meanwhile, after the Palace Grounds meeting, Siddaramaiah met gram panchayat members from Kolar Assembly constituency at his residence.

'Original' Cong leaders plan own Ahinda meet

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

EVEN as staunch supporters of Siddaramaiah are going ahead with their plans of organising a birthday bash to showcase him as the mass leader of of AHINDA, other leaders of the party are planning a mega show for the minorities, Dalits and backward classes, which is what the acronym Ahinda stands for, ahead of the 2023 Assembly polls.

Sources said the strategy is not to let Siddaramaiah alone to be in the race for the chief minister's post, but also push Dalits into the scramble. These conventions will be held to send out the message that Congress is with Dalits and to counter the argument of BJP that the Congress failed to make a Dalit a chief minister.

The plans for these events were discussed by KPCC president DK Shivakumar and former deputy CM Dr G Parameshwara during their recent meeting. As Shivakumar, being the party president, was not ready to hold such shows of strength on his own, the task was assigned to Parameshwara. The party high command has given the go-ahead to hold events focusing on SCs, and the first three will be organised Ballari, Belagavi and Vijayapura. Later, Similar events will be held in Mysuru and Bengaluru.

"After Siddaramaiah's birthday bash, it will be the party's show of strength till the Assembly polls. The original Congress leaders will time it in such a way that these events will be fresh in people's memory ahead of the polls," said a leader. It is also to prove to the high command that it is not Siddaramaiah alone who is a mass leader and there are also others who have their own clout, he said.

After Siddaramaiah's birthday bash, it will be the party's show of strength till the Assembly polls in 2023

A senior Congress leader

Except those who have taken the side of Siddaramaiah, all others, including former Union minister KH Muniyappa who is miffed with the CLP leader, are likely to play key roles in this strategic move, for which the plan has been laid out by Shivakumar, another source said.

Parameshwara nurses a long-held grouse, as he narrowly missed the CM's post after the party won in 2013 because he lost in Koratagere. The post at that time went to Siddaramaiah. He also had to struggle to become a minister and had to wait in the wings for a long time.

MISSION 2023

BJP may deny tickets to some MLAs in Belagavi

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

SEVERAL sitting MLAs and prominent leaders of BJP in the 18 Assembly segments of Belagavi may not get tickets for the 2023 polls, as an internal survey predicts that some of these aspirants could face setbacks.

With 14 Assembly seats in its kitty in Belagavi, the BJP leadership wants to retain all the seats even if it involves drastic changes. But denial of tickets to these leaders could trigger a rebellion within the party, sources said.

The party is seriously focusing on Belagavi North constituency, represented by Anil Benake, Ramadurg held by Mahadevappa Yadwad and Kittur represented by Mahantesh Doddagouda. The leadership is apprehensive that the three may not fare well in the elections and has already begun working on alternatives to set things in order. It will not hesitate to field fresh faces if the situation demands. However, the leadership is yet to study the factors that may go against the party in the three constituencies, the sources added.

Benake, an advocate, is popular in Belagavi, but the party is worried about the lesser vote share in the last Lok Sabha and recent Legislative Council elections. The party is also concerned with careless party activities going on here, the sources said.

On Yadwad, the sources said the two-time MLA is 70 years old and is not serious enough about the party's organisation in his constituency. The party workers too are not happy with him and feel he is not as active as expected. About MLA Doddagouda, too, the survey found that he was not involved in either Sangh Parivar or party activities. Some other BJP MLAs in Belagavi may also be ignored if the party leadership feels that new faces could bolster poll prospects.

HEBBALKAR TAKES SON TO MEET BSY

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

THOUGH Belagavi Rural Congress MLA Laxmi Hebbalkar's visit to former CM B S Yediyurappa's residence here on Wednesday looked like just a courtesy call, it could be part of a larger plan, as she wants to emerge as a strong Veerashaiva Lingayat leader in North Karnataka.

That she took along her son Mrinal to seek the blessings of the 'undisputed leader' of the community, on account of 'Guru Poornima', is a statement that Mrinal has been nursing dreams of entering politics by contesting the Belagavi Lok Sabha seat in 2024. The reason could also be that Congress candidate Sathish Jarkiholi lost the bypolls by a whisker to Mangala Angadi, raising hopes that Congress could win the seat. Since Sathish will not be contesting in 2024, Laxmi is grooming her son, sources said.

Laxmi's younger brother Channaraj Hattiholi won the 2021 MLC polls from local bodies of Belagavi, catapulting her to kingmaker in the district. Meanwhile, Congress leader Prakash Hukkeri won the North West Teachers' MLC seat, indicating a wave of change.

The Hebbalkars, who are close to KPCC president D K Shivakumar, want to claim the space and grow into community leaders, for which they need Yediyurappa's blessings, say experts.

Laxmi has already proved herself a master striker, as it was with her help that Nagaraj Yadav was nominated MLC. She wants to develop her own coterie and has been lobbying for the MLA ticket for Nagaraj Chebbi from Kalaghatgi, it is said.

Meanwhile, Mrinal's brother-in-law, Rajath Ullagaddimath, a block Congress president, is also eyeing Hubballi-Dharwad Central seat to contest against former CM Jagadish Shettar.

"It was a courtesy call as he is our community's veteran leader. No politics was discussed but we discussed the 2A tag for Panchamasalis, which got delayed owing to technical reasons," she said.

Simha slams Devanuru, calls him 'Cong servant'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

AT a time when writer Devanuru Mahadeva's latest book on RSS- 'RSS aala mattu agala' is receiving rave reviews, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha came down heavily against the 'Kusumabale' writer calling him a "servant of Congress''.

Speaking to reporters here on Wednesday, the MP took a jibe against Devanuru Mahadeva and said, "After he wrote Kusumabale I thought there would be some creativity left in him. But now penning a book on RSS, he has even lost the respect he had. He has written this book as a Congress aalu (servant in English) and has nothing much about RSS-aala and agala (depth and width) as claimed by the title."

He further said the book seems to be a compilation of speeches of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi. "Inspired by speeches of Rahul Gandhi, Devanuru Mahadeva might have come up with this and moreover Opposition leader Siddaramaiah promoting the book itself tells everything about this," he added.

He objected to the writer for taking reference to only Hindus while speaking on the subject of Chaturvarna. "This is in existence not only in Hinduism but Christian and Islam too… but the writer is silent on this," he said.

"He has written that RSS is based on one religion, one leader and one nation, but why is he silent on terrorism which is due to one person, one book and one country?" the two-time MP questioned.

Ferocious lions reflect PM's activeness: Bommai

UDUPI: Mocking Congress' concerns over ferocious lions in the emblem atop the new parliament building, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday said the opposition party wants the lions to look sleepy, but BJP likes them to be roaring and powerful. He said, "Since Prime Minister Narendra Modi is active, the emblem too looks the same. As the opposition party spent time sleeping, it believes the same should happen to the Lion Capital." On whether the new lions looked more ferocious than what was depicted in emperor Ashoka's emblem, he said it is a matter of perception. "Congress is looking at everything through the political lens. But the activeness of our PM is reflected through the new lions. It is nothing but Congress' mindset to find fault in everything," he added. He maintained that the new emblem and the original one at Sarnath are the same. ENS

FKCCI meet to dicuss investment opportunities

BENGALURU: To discuss investment opportunities in Karnataka, the Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FKCCI) is organising a two-day conference in Hubballi on July 16 and 17. Speaking to media persons in Bengaluru on Wednesday, FKCCI president IS Prasad said over 600 delegates from the district chambers of commerce and industry from all over the state will participate in the conference to deliberate investment opportunities in manufacturing and service sectors and also on taking investments 'Beyond Bengaluru'. Prasad said it will provide an opportunity to new entrepreneurs to explore investment opportunities in the state and create employment opportunities. Various topics, including exports from agriculture and food processing, will also be discussed in detail by experts and there will also be a special talk on spirituality, he said. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai will inaugurate the conference. ENS

National meet of agriculture ministers in Bengaluru from today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS part of Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, the Union Ministry of Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare is organising a two-day national conference of state agriculture and horticulture ministers from Thursday in Bengaluru.

Union Minister of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare Narendra Singh Tomar, Union Ministers of State Shobha Karandlaje and Kailash Choudhary and ministers from various states are expected to take part in the event. The department stated that there will be technical sessions on nine thematic areas -- digital agriculture, Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana, natural farming, FPO, e-NAM, Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi, National Food Security Mission, agriculture infrastructure fund and new technology by ICAR.

A separate session on best practices in the agriculture and allied sector adopted in various states across the country will be integrated with the technical session during the conference. An e-NAM Platform of Platforms (PoPs) to promote trade and marketing of agricultural produce to get better prices for farmers will be launched. The e-NAM will pave the way for creating an efficient and effective "One Nation One Market" ecosystem, the release stated.

20 varsities sign MoUs

KSHEC Vice Chairman Prof B Thimmegowda told TNIE that the syllabus for the course has been formulated and is ready to be implemented from the next semester, for third and fourth semester students. The syllabus was formulated in association with NSEAL. NSEAL will be conducting statewide 'Train the Trainer' programmes to help train college teachers. So far, 20 state universities have already signed MoUs with the academy for the courses. Prof Thimmegowda also mentioned that courses on artificial intelligence and cybersecurity are being planned for the future to help students become more up-to-date with the technologies.

PSI recruitment scam: 80 arrests made by CID

THE CID is yet to get the trail of money. The agency had earlier searched Paul's house in Sahakaranagara and raided a farmhouse in Chikkaballapur taluk, which is reportedly linked to him. The 1,900-page charge-sheet filed by the CID on July 5 talks about the sordid saga of the fence eating the crop, with the complicity of police officials, heads of the educational institutions, which were the exam centres of the PSI recruitment in October last year, invigilators and the middlemen.

The CID has registered eight FIRs and arrested 80 people. The probe so far has shown how former deputy superintendent of police at Lingasur, Mallikarjun Sali had reportedly introduced police inspector (finger print) Anand Mestri to Rudragowda Patil, brother of Afzalpur block Congress president Mahanthesh D Patil, and how Mestri, who was on duty outside the Jnana Jyothi English Medium School, Kalaburagi had reportedly helped some candidates get their question papers manipulated by Kashinath, principal of the institution.

The CID chargesheet mentions that former BJP leader Divya Hagaragi, who ran the Jnana Jyothi English Medium School, at the alleged offer of Assistant Engineer, Irrigation Department, Manjunath Melkundu, reportedly accepted Rs 25 lakh from candidates and paid around Rs 4,000 to invigilators to rig the papers. Melkundu and Kashinath had surrendered before the CID in May.

Around 54,041 students had appeared for the examination for 545 posts of police sub-inspectors on October 3, 2021. The government had annulled the examination after the scam broke out.

Govt kicks off pilot health scheme, 'Doc at your doorstep'

BANSY KALAPPA
@ Bengaluru

WITH the unveiling of a government scheme to make free medical care available at the doorsteps of people in five select villages in Bengaluru Rural as a pilot, the strategy is clear.. unleash a clutch of user-friendly medical services and harvest the consequent goodwill, expecting it to translate into votes in the Assembly elections.

This scheme follows a mega health fair held a few months ago where over two lakh people were given free healthcare services. Cataract surgeries, dentures and many other procedures were carried out free of cost, in probably the biggest single free healthcare initiative by the government.

Asked about Congress plans, KPCC president DK Shivakumar said, "BJP is in power and they can do it. We held a massive health camp for the entire Bengaluru Rural Parliamentary constituency in the second week of May. That was an initiative I undertook. When we work on our party manifesto, we will pay special attention to healthcare.''

JDS deputy leader in the Assembly and former minister Bandeppa Kashempur said, "These health schemes are just a gimmick before the elections. If BJP was more serious about it, they could have launched pilot projects in different parts of the state, including Kalyana-Karnataka and coastal Karnataka, instead of only in Bengaluru. We understand health is important. If we come to power, we will ensure super-speciality health services to individuals at the gram panchayat level."

Congress had launched ambulances and other services during Covid that garnered a lot of goodwill for the party. Congress MLA Dr Ranganath Doddaiah from Kunigal said he is planning a mobile health facility that will be launched later this month. Free healthcare will be provided to all his constituency members.

On the government's free healthcare pilot, Bommanahalli MLA Satish Reddy, who is the chief whip of BJP, said, "The initiative is to provide free healthcare at villages once a month. This should be extended to the entire Bengaluru district."

Holidays for educational institutions in Telangana till July 16

Crest gates of Kadem project across a tributary of Godavari river, have been opened

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hyderabad

FOR the first time since 1986, the river Godavari is in full spate in July itself with heavy rains upstream and in the State showing no signs of subsiding Wednesday and the weatherman forecasting more in the next couple of days.

One more youth, identified as Mushra Digamber, was washed away in Adilabad district taking the toll in rain-related incidents to six. The search for the reporter of a vernacular news channel who was swept away while covering the floods in Karimnagar is still underway.

As inflows swelled at SRSP and other major reservoirs, Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao reviewed the situation with senior officials and ministers at a marathon six-hour meeting. In view of the grim scenario, he decided to extend holidays for all educational institutions till July 16. Similarly, EAMCET (Agriculture) to be conducted on July 14 and 15 has been deferred indefinitely. But EAMCET (Engineering) will be held as per schedule from July 18 to 20.

Taking note of the flooding at Kadem project, the Chief Minister had a telephonic conversation with Minister Indrakaran Reddy and instructed him to monitor safety operations at the project. People residing in 12 villages under the project limits have already been evacuated. The river Godavari is the one giving sleepless nights as it continues to breach new highs.

Alert sounded in Kurnool

Kunrool: Heavy rains continued to lash upper catchment areas in Karnataka and Maharashtra, resulting in heavy inflows into Tungabhadra and Almatti dams. However, with increasing flood discharge from Tungabhadra dam in Karnataka and Jurala in Telangana, a high alert has been sounded in low-lying areas along the river course in Kurnool district. The flood water will reach Srisailam reservoir through Tungabhadra and Krishna rivers. At present, there is 99.898 TMC ft of flood water stored in the TB dam against its capacity of 100.86 TMC. Till Wednesday late evening, the dam has received 1,09,354 cusecs of water as inflows. The dam officials released 1,15,344 cusecs of water from TB dam in Karnataka into Tungabhadra river by lifting 12 of the total 33 gates. On the other hand, there is 91.90 TMC flood water storage in the Almatti dam against its capacity of 129.72 TMC. ENS

A landslide at Anshi Ghat which connects Belagavi and Dharwad with Uttara Kannada

Anshi Ghat closed due to landslides

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Karwar

IN the wake of frequent landslides, the district administration has decided to close Anshi Ghat for a few days. Anshi Ghat connects Belagavi and Dharwad with Uttara Kannada. The authorities had a couple of days ago stopped the movement of vehicles all along the stretch to prevent any damage to human life or vehicles, but later revoked its decision.

"We had stopped the movement of vehicles but later withdrew our decision after rainfall receded. But now it will be closed again for a few more days considering several minor landslides, which are occurring frequently," Mullai Muhilan, Deputy Commissioner, Uttara Kannada told The New Indian Express.

A stretch of about 20 km after Anshi village has been considered vulnerable for landslides. Senior officials in the district administration had inspected the spot. "There have been no reports of major landslides like it happened in 2021, but as a safety measure, we will close the ghats. It will be reviewed before opening it," DC Muhilan said.

The decision to close the ghat will result in a detour for motorists to reach the district headquarters, Karwar. The vehicles will now have to go to Yellapur and Ankola road to reach Karwar, which will be an additional 50 km.

Man trying to rescue wife swept away

CHIKKAMAGALURU: A nomad ragpicker was swept away in the flash floods of Yagachi stream while trying to save his drowning wife near Undedasarahalli on Tuesday evening. Suri and his wife Gita were collecting empty bottles and other waste from the stream waters when the incident happened. Gita while picking bottles slipped into the stream. Though Suri tried to rescue her, he was swept away. Immediately, locals alerted the city municipal council and CMC president Varasiddi Venogopal rushed to the spot along with his staff. Even Fire Brigade and municipal workers swung into action, but they could not trace the body till Wednesday evening. Speaking to reporters, the CMC president said the search for the body will continue. ENS

32 died in rain-related incidents in K'taka: CM

THE announcement Rs 500 crore fund by the CM comes after the completion of his first leg of field visits to rain-affected places in Kodagu and Dakshina Kannada on Tuesday.

The chief minister informed that 32 people have lost their lives in rain-related incidents in the state in July, 34 people injured and five people have gone missing.

As many as 300 people in the state have been shifted and rehabilitated in safer places. Bommai also said that in all, 2,187 km of road stretch, that comes under Public Works Department (PWD) and Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (RDPR) department is damaged in three coastal districts due to rain.

Asked about sea erosion in the coastal region of the state, the CM said a new sea-wave break technology will be used on a trial basis in one-km stretch at Ullal in Dakshina Kannada district. "If the experiment is successful, it will be extended to the entire stretch of the coast in the state wherever sea erosion occurs," he said. Bommai added that besides a long-term plan, temporary measures will be also implemented to arrest sea erosion in the coast.

Friends kill youth for posting lewd messages on Insta

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

A YOUTH who had allegedly created a fake Instagram account in the name of his close friend's wife and posted indecent messages and pictures was murdered by his friends in Hunsur taluk of Mysuru district.

Police said Beeresh (23), a resident of Angatahalli village, was murdered by Nithin alias Vatara (25), a resident of Kalkunike village and gym instructor in Kutty Gym in Hunsur Town and Manu (23), who is also a resident of Kalkunike village. As all the three were from neighbouring villages, they used to play cricket together.

However, the clash between the friends started after Nithin got married to his girlfriend from Bengaluru in February and the couple were staying in the village. Police said Beeresh created a fake account of Nithin's wife and posted indecent messages. As Nithin was earning a meagre salary as gym instructor, Beeresh had also made fun of his salary and his family maintenance in the small amount.

The incidents resulted in clashes between the friends from the past few months. However, Beeresh has claimed himself to be innocent by stating that he had not created any fake Instagram account or made vulgar comments.

However, Nithin did not buy his claims and they continued to clash over the issue. But Nithin was enraged after Beeresh allegedly continued to make lewd remarks.

Police said that Nithin who was enraged by the situation explained the case to his friend Manu and sought his help to teach Beeresh a lesson. As per the plan, Manu called Beeresh over the phone at around 2 pm on Tuesday and asked him to meet them for discussion in Hunsur Town.

Without suspecting any danger, Beeresh comes to the place along with a friend on a bike. But Nithin asks Beeresh's friend to leave as they are going to Urs College. While Manu rides the bike, Nithin makes Beeresh sit in the middle.

When the bike reached the bypass road near the APMC, Nithin removes the knife and stabs Beeresh from behind on his neck and back. As Beeresh cries for help, a timber merchant rushes to save Beeresh from attack. Fearing getting caught, Nithin and Manu escape from the spot pushing Beeresh from the bike.

The merchant immediately informed the police who rushed to the spot and shifted the injured Beeresh to KR Hospital.

Hunsur circle inspector told The New Indian Express that they visited the hospital and took Beeresh's statement.

"However, Beeresh succumbed to injuries at 3.30 am on Wednesday. The body was handed over to the relatives after postmortem. Nithin's wife is pregnant. Both Nithin and Manu are absconding and we are searching for their whereabouts," a police official said.

Hunsur Town police have registered a case and are investigating.

No trespass if property in possession of accused

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

If possession is not with the complainant, she can hardly contend that the accused have trespassed the property of the complainant. Her possession in the case at hand is determined by this court in a writ petition

Karnataka High Court

OBSERVING that there can be no allegation of criminal trespass into property when it is in possession of the accused, and not in possession of the complainant, the Karnataka High Court quashed criminal proceedings initiated by Kodigehalli police against the accused, based on a complaint filed by a woman on charges of 'house trespass and damage to property by way of mischief', though she was not in possession of the property.

Allowing the petition filed by Shivaswamy and four others, Justice M Nagaprasanna quashed criminal proceedings against them based on the complaint filed by PC Leelavathi, who resides in Mahaganapathi Nagar. She filed a complaint on August 1, 2018, seven months later than the alleged incident.

"If possession is not with the complainant, she can hardly contend that the accused have trespassed the property of the complainant. Her possession in the case at hand is determined by this court in a writ petition, while observing that the BDA had already acquired the property for a particular purpose in 1986, and the complainant being in possession was not accepted. Civil cases are also pending against each other. Therefore, if the complainant is not in possession of the property, there can be no allegation of criminal trespass into such property, in which accused themselves are in possession," the court said.

It also observed that if possession of the property itself is in doubt, driving home the offence would become doubtful. On such a premise, if further proceedings are permitted to continue against the petitioners, it would become abuse of the process of law and result in miscarriage of justice, the court added.

Wild jumbos take away temple idols

SAJIMON P S @Pathanamthitta

AT a time when the wild elephant menace is rising on the forest fringes, the residents of Gavi in Pathanamthitta are facing a different issue. The villagers complain that elephants are taking away the idols in the Ganapathi temple located inside the forest. They are forced to collect the idols from different parts of the forest and reinstall them to offer prayers.

The Ganapathi temple in Gavi is around 200 years old and was built before the construction of dams in the region, says Praveen Raj, a resident of Gavi.

"It is located deep inside the forest. Often, when we go there to offer prayers, the idols would be missing. Wild elephants are taking them away and abandoning them somewhere in the forest. We have come to a stage where we should search for the idols before offering prayers," he says.

Besides the Ganapathi temple, Gavi villagers also pray at the Sri Muthumariamman temple, which has fencing, at Kochu Pampa. "Last week, jumbos barged in and destroyed the temple's roof and other structures. Fortunately, the idols were safe," says Yogarajan, another Gavi resident.

He says not a single day passes in their lives without seeing an elephant.

Wanted: New lion bloodline for zoo, safari in Bannerghatta Park

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

HOPING to breed a healthy population of lions with a new bloodline, Bannerghatta Biological Park (BBP) authorities are looking at all possibilities. The demand for lions is not just rising in Bannerghatta, but in other zoos of Karnataka too. This is because of demand from visitors to see more lions on safaris and in zoos.

Before the pandemic hit, the management was in talks with other zoos, including Singapore Zoo, to get lions, but this did not materialise, said an official.

As per rules from the Zoo Authority and Ministry of Environment and Forests, inbreeding of rescued and captured animals should not be encouraged, but is permitted for the health of animals and welfare of zoos, the official added.

At present, Bannerghatta houses 21 lions (9 males and 12 females). Of these, most are hybrid lions (a combination of Asiatic and African lions). While most of them are hand reared and inbred, two lions were procured from Junagadh in 2019. The BBP had also sent four lions to Shivamogga zoo, two to Gadag, three to Belagavi and four to Ballari.

"It is not just us who need lions, demand is also rising from Shivamogga, Gadag and Belagavi. Hampi and Shivamogga are setting up safaris. Mysuru Zoo does not need more lions as it does not have a safari, they are only on display. All circus rescued lions have died, only their offspring are with us. The oldest are two 13-year-old male and female. While stress is being laid on getting giraffes, baboons and chimpanzees, search for lions has also intensified," the official said.

A burnt car with charred body was found in Henuberu, Byndoor, on Wednesday

Charred body in burnt car found

Udupi: A completely burnt body in a charred car was found near Henuberu, Byndoor, here on Wednesday. Police sources said the body is charred beyond recognition in the rear seat of the car. It is not yet identified asthat of a male or female. The body was found behind the driver's seat. The sources said prima facie, it is a case of murder. FSL experts have arrived at the spot to take samples. Byndoor police meanwhile are checking the CCTV footage to know who would have travelled in the same route on the same day.

SECURITY GUARD WHO STOLE 25 BIKES HELD

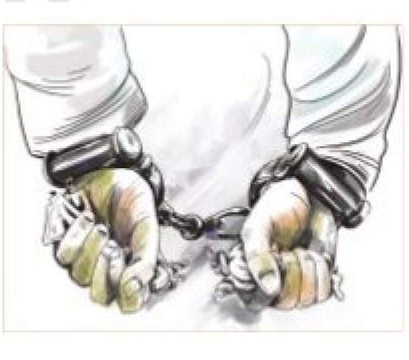
Bengaluru : A security guard who had stolen over 25 two-wheelers has been arrested by the North Division police. The accused, Srinivas, 39, was working as a security guard at a garments factory in the morning and would steal bikes at night using duplicate keys. Srinivas is a resident of Kempe Gowda Layout in Laggere. One of the victims who lost his bike on June 22 near the Rajajinagar Metro station had filed a complaint with the Mahalalakshmi Layout police, following which Srinivas was arrested. As he was not satisfied with his salary as it was not sufficient for his bad habits, he started to steal bikes. He used to sell the stolen bikes to his friends in Kolar and Andhra Pradesh claiming that he was a second hand two-wheeler dealer. After collecting money, he would avoid them from giving the vehicle documents. ENS

Four drug suppliers from AP nabbed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE CCB police have arrested a gang of four, including two women, from Andhra Pradesh, on charges of drug peddling.

The police said a disc jockey was arrested in Viveknagar on June 23 on the same charges. Continuing their investigation, the police questioned him on the source of drugs and he revealed that he had procured it from villagers of Araku valley and Senthipalli forest area in Visakhapatnam, Andhra Pradesh. Based on his information, two men and two women were arrested and five kg of hashish oil and 6 kg of ganja worth Rs 4 crore were seized from them.



"The accused were in contact with drug peddlers from Bengaluru, Kochi, Chennai, Hyderabad, Mumbai, and other cities. They met the peddlers at railway stations in Nellore, Guntur, Vijayawada, Puttaparthi, and other cities and took cash from them as an advance payment. Based on their requirements, they supplied ganja which they grew and prepared hashish oil. To hoodwink the forest, police, and excise departments' staff, they walked 25-30 km in the guise of nomads to reach the top of hills in the forest, where they prepared hashish oil. The women members of the gang concealed the contraband in rice, wheat, and vegetable bags and took them near railway stations, where their customers collected the drugs. To avoid detection, they didn't use mobile phones nor carried any ID cards," the police added.

JAGAN STRATEGY REAL STORY NOT MOM'S EXIT

What hogged the headlines at the ruling YSR Congress plenary the other day was Y S Vijayamma, Chief Minister Y S Jagan Mohan Reddy's mother, resigning not only as the party's honorary president but also from its primary membership. It made a good reading, given the speculation of sibling rivalry between Jagan and his sister Sharmila who has floated her party in neighbouring Telangana. Nonetheless, Vijayamma's exit was a formality. After all, Jagan has always been the YSRC's supreme leader, notwithstanding his sister's political ambitions and the reported tussles in the state's first family. The real takeaway from the conclave is the Jagan strategy.

Flexing his muscles, the newly-anointed president for life of the YSRC caught the TDP, Jana Sena and the BJP in a cleft stick with a pointed warning to the people that a vote for the opposition is tantamount to voting against the ongoing direct benefit transfer schemes. Elections are still a couple of years away, but this is going to be Jagan's battle cry and to which the opposition has no clear answers as of now.

The TDP is still relying on its ageing war horse and former chief minister, N Chandrababu Naidu. Yes, he has embarked on a tour of the districts and is breaking a sweat. But, perhaps for the first time in his career, Naidu finds himself completely isolated. Despite his U-turn on the BJP following the drubbing in the 2019 elections, the latter is unwilling to break bread with him again. His overtures to the saffron party's ally, Jana Sena, have not been received well either, at least thus far, though party president and actor Pawan Kalyan did make some noise about the need to keep the opposition vote intact.

Most importantly, Naidu is yet to set his own house in order. Public attention may have been on Jagan and his mother but there are signs of growing unease in the yellow party over the role of Naidu's son Lokesh amid rumours of a rift between the two over a possible alliance with Jana Sena. This developing story will be far more significant than Vijayamma's exit.

NEW PUSH FOR BJP IN KERALA

The coastline that once drew ancient mariners from Europe, Africa, the Levant and the Far East has mostly been immune to overland conquistadors. But the BJP is showing a renewed interest in Kerala, a state that Narendra Modi singled out in his 2019 victory speech as unfinished business for his party. Problem is, despite gaining a disproportionate influence over the local media and upping its vote share in recent years, it has only failures to flaunt. And a measure of defeatism may have crept in. After the humiliating outing in the last assembly election, when the party lost even the lone seat it had won in 2016, no course correction followed, no heads rolled, nor was anyone held accountable. It was business as usual for a listless state leadership battling groupism and casteism. The party withdrew to the background of Kerala politics, only making occasional noises.

But the BJPs recent national executive meeting in Hyderabad, with Mission South on the agenda, saw swords being sharpened for one more battle. The nomination of yesteryear track star P T Usha to the Rajya Sabha shows the intent. And four Union ministers—Anurag Thakur, Bhagwant Khuba, Shobha Karandlaje and S Jaishankar—have toured Kerala to publicise the Modi government's achievements. Expect more visitations ahead of the 2024 general elections. Six Lok Sabha seats in the state—Thiruvananthapuram, Attingal, Pathanamthitta, Mavelikkara, Thrissur, and Palakkad are among those identified across India for outreach programmes, and a Union cabinet minister will be in charge of each.

Focusing campaigning on select constituencies is not new for the BJP. The first such experiment in Kerala was during the 1987 assembly elections when it came second in two seats. But the state's complex social map, with a strong imprint of minority communities, and its deeply political electorate have afforded little leg space to the saffron party. Renewed attempts are on to win over the Syrian Christians, who constitute about 18% of the population. But Kerala's stable bipolarity—built around the Left-led LDF and Congress-led UDF—has till now held firm.

Leaders tend to forget self-evident lessons during transformation management. They must observe, listen, record, and reflect without any judgement

TRANSFORMATION EXPERIENCES AT UNILEVER

SOUMYADIP SINHA

R GOPALAKRISHNAN
Author and business commentator

BUILDING BUSINESSES

In my June column, I mentioned that I would share my personal experiences on organisational transformation from Unilever Arabia between 1990 and 1994 (integrating eleven joint ventures) and from Brooke Bond Lipton India Limited between 1994 to 1998 (integrating eight acquisitions). I feel encouraged that some readers have responded with enthusiasm and anticipation.

In the interests of brevity, I propose to view the experience through a conceptual rather than an operational lens. The learnings may appear like motherhood statements. In my defence, I affirm that the self-evident lessons are the ones that leaders tend to forget during transformation management. It is useful to learn and practice the skills of an anthropologist, viz, to observe, listen, record, and reflect, all without judgement!

I recall that I had memorised a mantra to guide my daily routines—SCUPT—standing for Socialisation–Communication–Understanding–Patience–Trust. This mantra was the outcome of a program that I attended at INSEAD, Fontainebleau on how to get the best out of diversity. There are five lessons to embellish the SCUPT mnemonic.

In most transformations, the bottleneck, or Crux as academic Richard Rumelt calls it, is the adaptiveness of the team. In summary, the true value of an HR professional as a key ally is palpable during transformations.

Lesson 1: Recruit early and make the HR chief an ally: Colin Davie, an upcoming Scotsman in Unilever, was my first recruit as HR chief in Unilever Arabia. R R Nair, an accomplished professional, was already the HR chief in BBLIL—Brooke Bond Lipton—at the time of my joining the company. I had deep conversations with both the HR chiefs; they were incredibly valuable in helping me appreciate the song behind the words I heard. Meetings with them sometimes took precedence over other colleagues, whereas CEOs naturally tend to prioritise marketing, operations, and finance. I emphasise that while operational functions possess a natural gravitas, the CEO must accord a special focus to the HR function while implementing a transformation.

Lesson 2: Interact with the least powerful people in the ecosystem: I used to travel to distant and less-visited operations to connect with factories and salespeople. It was strenuous but worthwhile—Gizan, Tabuk, Gassim in Unilever Arabia and Tundla, Kanhan, Ghatkeshwar, and Etah in BBLIL. I learnt about the deep-rooted suspicions between Lipton India managers and Brooke Bonders, arising out of 80 years of head-on competition. In Arabia, the Lipton teabag business earned so much of Unilever Arabia's cash flows that the Lipton people silently disapproved of its reinvestment that cash in 'the dud business of detergents'! Reach out and listen carefully for the subtle messages from out there.

Lesson 3: Formalise mechanisms for feedback about how things are: While informal methods of listening by leadership are important, the informal is not a substitute for the formal. In BBLIL, the HR chief, R R Nair, began an extended series at the Training Centre, branding it as 'Confluence Series'. Almost 25 sessions were held, each session hosting 30–40 managers for an evening. R R Nair and I attended every session, thus connecting with about 1,000 executives. I learned that merging balance sheets is easier than aligning mindsets. In Arabia, whenever I travelled, Colin Davie invariably arranged a lunch or formal communication meeting with the local managers in Bahrain, Kuwait, Dubai, Riyadh and so on. For me, these sessions were crucial. I had to train myself to listen to people without judging them—not very easy in a hierarchical organisation.

> A delicate balance is required between imparting a sense of urgency for change and avoiding doom among the executives. There was a continuous tussle between the advocates of continuity and those for change. Consultation with the HR chief and early experimentation were both fabulously valuable

Lesson 4: Use the burning platform to stimulate change: A delicate balance is required between imparting a sense of urgency for change and avoiding doom among the executives. There was a continuous tussle between the advocates of continuity and those for change. Consultations with the HR chief and early experimentation were both fabulously valuable. I was a fiend for feedback from my HR chiefs after every communication session to the point of appearing vulnerable!

It is good to remember that the HR chief is the only professional to whom the CEO can express personal vulnerability without creating organisation-wide doubts about leadership confidence. Luckily, my colleagues were frank about how the session could have been more effective. In Arabia, Unilever Arabia began just after the Saddam invasion of Kuwait, a war that began and concluded within three months. Times were stressful for Unilever managers to consider expatriation to the territory. In BBLIL, the Narasimha Rao-Manmohan Singh government introduced liberalisation. The measures threw up issues of cost benchmarking and competitiveness. The personal trauma for long-standing managers was intense. Their self-image was of established competence, yet, to see the mirror and accept glaring deficiencies was a challenge.

Lesson 5: Communicate constantly, but both ways: I learned that a CEO should never get tired of explaining the same thing repeatedly—without showing irritation or impatience. This is not easy for a pushing, tireless CEO, who is usually also in a hurry. Patience and understanding are essential. My perception at that time was that the advice of both my HR chiefs acted like soft brakes on a speeding automobile, metaphorically representing my leadership. They advised me about my own deficiencies in leading the company effort. I was gently reminded of a paradoxical Korean proverb that it is precisely when you want to speed up that often you must slow down.

In closing, I must add that the challenge of leading the transformation was not just mine but shared with a highly engaged and committed team of my corporate leadership team.

LOOKING AT ISRAEL BEYOND POLITICAL INSTABILITY

P R KUMARASWAMY
Professor at JNU. Teaches contemporary Middle East there

Political instability is an integral and inseparable part of Israel's landscape. For the fifth time within three years, Israel goes to the polls. The November 1 election will be the 25th since its birth in 1948. Only twice before (1969–1973 and 1977–1981) did the Knesset complete its full four-year term; most were dissolved early due to political crises and instability.

In 74 years, Israel had as many as 36 governments, including the current caretaker administration headed by Prime Minister Yair Lapid. If the average life of a Knesset is about three years, the governments had a lesser lifespan. Israel had four elections between April 2019 and March 2021. Only the unpopular prospect of a fifth election compelled the ideologically incompatible parties to cobble up an anti-Netanyahu government in June 2021. But that did not survive beyond twelve months.

Thus, including Lapid, Israel had as many as 14 prime ministers; if one excludes Netanyahu (over 15 years) and Ben-Gurion (over 13 years), the rest had shorter innings. This contrasts with the 'political stability' in Israel's immediate neighbourhood.

In its hundred-year history, the Kingdom of Jordan had only four rulers. The Assad family has been continuously ruling Syria since 1971. If Mubarak ruled Egypt for over three decades, Gamal Abdul Nasser dominated it for nearly two decades. And, the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia saw only seven rulers since its founding in 1932. One can also add that Israeli leaders have so far engaged with as many as 14 American presidents belonging only to two political parties.

Ideological diversity that marked the pre-state Jewish community in mandate Palestine or Yishuv continued and intensified after 1948. Israel's proportional representation electoral system, as against the Indian constituency-based model, meant that no single party could ever secure the simple majority of 61 seats in the 120-member Knesset. The highest number of seats ever secured by a political party was 56, won by the Labour Alignment in 1969. So long as the Labour party dominated the socio-political landscape, things were relatively manageable, if not stable.

The Labour's monopoly ended when Likud came to power in 1977, and since then, the latter has emerged as a dominant force through its effective alliance and partnership with the religious parties, which were once Labour allies. With the exceptions of Yitzhak Rabin-Shimon Peres (1992–1996) and Ehud Barak (1999–2001), the Labour Party has become a marginal player in Israel. Its social agenda has been taken over by the ethno-religious Shas party. In the last two decades, centrist parties like Kadima, Blue and White and Yesh Atid have emerged as real alternatives to the Likud.

Given this background, it is safe to assume that the November elections will not give a definite mandate. Current exit polls suggest a clear edge for Netanyahu-led Likud but without an absolute majority. Naftali Bennett, former Prime Minister and currently deputy to Lapid, declared that he would not contest the November election.

> Significantly, perennial political instability has not impeded or slowed Israel's progress in other areas. ... Though there are enormous disagreements over goals and tactics, there has been a consensus on national priorities among all political parties

Questions have been raised over the political future of a few parties. Crossing the minimum threshold margin of 3.25% of votes will be an uphill task for Yamina (without Bennet), the increasingly marginalised Labour Party, Left-wing Meretz (whose Arab Member of Knesset partly contributed to the fall of the government) and Arab-Islamist Ra'am (whose participation in the anti-Netanyahu coalition facilitated the Bennett-Lapid government). As things stand, the November election might benefit some of the larger parties at the cost of their smaller ideological cousins.

While the four-month timeframe is too long in Israeli politics, it is possible to decipher two important lessons. First, Lapid is officially a 'caretaker Prime Minister' but the nomenclature does not impede any of his powers, functions or responsibilities. Netanyahu, for example, was caretaker Prime Minister between December 2018 (when the Knesset was dissolved) and May 2020 (when a brief unity government was formed with the Blue and White Party). Thus, it is safe to assume that the caretaker arrangement under Lapid would continue well into early 2023.

Significantly, perennial political instability has not impeded or slowed Israel's progress in other areas. It has emerged as a military-security power, a technological powerhouse, a strong market for foreign investments, a start-up nation, premier nation in various scientific advancements. It is a widely-courted diplomatic power and hence a regional power. These accomplishments paralleled decades of domestic political instability.

Though there are enormous disagreements over goals and tactics, there has been a consensus on national priorities among all political parties. While the Left and the Right differed over the means of pursuing national security, there has been convergence on ensuring basic security of the citizens both in military and socio-economic terms.

Political stability is important, especially from the viewpoint of international relations, but unlike several of its neighbours, Israel has ensured the economic and societal security of the people. Inequities and inequalities do exist but Israel has not made them hostage to unclear electoral verdicts or hung parliaments. Israel's message is loud and clear: political stability and a parliamentary majority are irrelevant to national progress.

Pros of GST

This is with reference to the column Five years of GST and the way forward (July 13). It gives a good account of the evolution of GST over the years. It has overcome most of the software glitches and now appears to have stabilised as one nation and one tax. The GST council meetings are held in a cooperative manner without any noisy scenes and a consensus is reached. It can be termed as "federalism in action". The government should include excluded items in a phased manner under the GST ambit to make it the most effective system of indirect taxation.

Good leaders

This is with reference to 84 dead in Maharashtra floods; Mumbai on alert (July 13). In Gadchiroli, 249 villages have been affected. Amid this, I appreciate Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde and Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis for visiting the flood-affected areas. It is also very good that farmers who pay their crop loans will get ₹50,000. Hopefully, the Maharashtra government will continue such work.

EPS-OPS tussle

Apropos of EPS has many bridges to cross as new leader (July 13). The tussle between E Palaniswami and O Panneerselvam has many ramifications. Solving these problems may be a long process. EPS is not a leader with a mass appeal like M G Ramachandran or Jayalalithaa, making it tough to hold the party together. Hence, some in the party may opt to join the BJP in the long run. The senior leaders of the AIADMK must reconcile.

A strong opposition

Apropos of EPS has many bridges to cross as new leader (July 13). The editorial rightly states that the 2024 elections will be a litmus test for the BJP. The divide in the AIADMK is an advantage for the DMK. It is likely that BJP will become a strong opposition.

Learn from China blunder

This is with reference to Don't fret over UN report, India's population on decline (July 13). As stated by Poonam Muttreja in the article, the decadal growth rate reduced from 21.5% during 1991–2001 to 17.7% in the 2001–2011 period. The fertility rate in the country also decreased to 2.0 in 2019–21 from 2.2 in 2015–16. This decline is not specific to one particular community. Instead, India should focus on learning from China's one-child policy mistake.

FOREST CONSERVATION RULES SPARK A FIGHT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE debate over the new Forest Conservation Rules brought in by the Central government is heating up ahead of Parliament's monsoon session. Some fireworks are expected in the two Houses when the government places it for approval, with Congress readying its arsenal to mount an attack on the Modi government for trying to 'dispossess' tribals of their rights even as it seeks to bolster its pro-ST credentials by nominating Droupadi Murmu, who belongs to the Santhal tribe, as presidential candidate.

The government, of course, refutes the charge. Tribal Affairs Minister Arjun Munda alleged that the Congress allegations were "just a futile attempt to divert the attention from the fact that NDA's presidential candidate is a tribal lady". Here's a look at the rules that have triggered a verbal spat between the two sides:

New rules to 'streamline' green clearance process

The Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEFCC) notified the Forest Conservation Rules, 2022 on June 28, that will replace the earlier rules notified in 2003

The new rules will be placed for approval of both Houses of Parliament in the coming monsoon session

WHAT IS THE CHANGE?

- The Scheduled Tribes and Other Traditional Forest Dwellers (Recognition of Forest Rights) Act, 2006, popularly known as the Forest Rights Act, 2006, confers land and livelihood rights — both individual and community — to tribal, Dalit and other families living in forest areas. Under the law, FRA compliance is mandatory before clearance is accorded for diversion of forest land for non-forest purposes
- The Forest (Conservation) Rules, 2022, delinks mandatory FRA compliance for seeking forest clearance for infrastructure projects and puts onus on states/UTs to ensure that it is complied with before the forest land is handed over to the project proponent

How will the new rules affect tribal rights?

The new rules allow the Union government to permit the clearing of a forest for a project before prior consent of the forest dwellers, as mandated under the 2006 Act

OPPOSITION'S CHARGE

- The new rules will dilute Forest Rights Act, 2006
- Will disempower forest tribals and may displace them
- Once forest clearance is accorded, dwellers' claims of resettlement will be ignored
- States will be under greater pressure from Centre to accelerate land diversion process

CENTRE'S CLAIM

- New rules do not dilute or infringe on the provisions of the Forest Rights Act, 2006
- They have been promulgated to streamline approval process
- Will allow parallel processing of the proposals and eliminate the redundant processes
- States/UTs can ensure compliance of the FRA "at any stage"

GREEN DEBATE

Slugfest over new rules 'infringing' tribal rights

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Forest (Conservation) Rules, 2022 notified by Union environment ministry has created a political stir with the Opposition accusing the Centre of diluting rights of tribal community. Senior Congress leader and former environment minister Jairam Ramesh was engaged in a twitter spat with Union environment minister Bhupender Yadav. The Opposition intends to push for the rules to be referred to a parliamentary standing committee for discussion and scrutiny.

Ramesh said once nod for forest clearance is accorded, everything else becomes a mere formality. The state governments will be under even greater pressure from the Centre to accelerate the process of diversion of forest land, he claimed.

Rahul Gandhi tweeted, "Modi-Mitr Sarkar at its crony best! For 'ease of snatching' forest land, BJP govt has come up with new FC Rules, 2022, diluting UPA's Forest Rights Act."

The Congress Tuesday wrote to the National Commission for Scheduled Tribes to take note of the alleged violation of the Forest Rights Act and ask the Centre to withdraw the new rules in public interest. It has alleged that the amended rules will lead to disempowerment, dispossession and displacement of STs and other traditional forest dwellers, and fuel conflict in tribal areas.

Rejecting the charges, Yadav clarified the rules have been promulgated to streamline the approval process, introduce collective decision making and address the dynamic changes in the value of trees/forests.

Police use teargas as Sri Lankan protesters storm the compound of Prime Minister Ranil Wickremesinghe's office | PTI

India denies any role in enabling Gotabaya Rajapaksa to flee Lanka

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

INDIA has strongly denied it had any role in facilitating Sri Lankan President Gotabaya Rajapaksa's exit from the country besieged by angry protests following the economic collapse.

"We categorically deny baseless speculation that India facilitated the recent travel of Gotabaya Rajapaksa out of Sri Lanka. It is reiterated, however, that India will continue to support the people of Sri Lanka as they seek to realise their aspirations for prosperity through democratic means and values, established democratic institutions and a constitutional framework,'' the Indian High Commission in Colombo said.

Sources pointed out that New Delhi did not issue any travel advisory during the turmoil in the island nation, as Indians were not targeted. "Despite the turmoil, Indians as a community are not under any threat. So there was no need for any advisory,'' said a source.

Only two days back, Indian Oil Corporation's subsidiary in Sri Lanka, LankaIOC, stepped up its efforts on the humanitarian front by ensuring that 209 ambulances across the country have sufficient fuel for patients requiring urgent medical attention.

India has been supporting Sri Lanka during the course of its economic crisis and has until now supported it with a $3.8 billion line of credit which has enabled the country to buy food, fuel and fertiliser.

Even as Ranil Wickremesinghe takes over as interim president, India's efforts towards supporting Sri Lanka would continue. Sources said India's support was crucial to wean Colombo off the Chinese influence. China continues to be the biggest foreign invester and lender for Sri Lanka.

"Having an ally in India suits Sri Lankans more than China, which acquired massive land on 99-year lease for Hambantota port as Sri Lanka has defaulted on payment. As a result, China has established a territorial foothold in Sri Lanka. India will not replicate that. That explains Colombo's inclination towards India now,'' said a source.

Oppn meet on July 17 to discuss V-P candidate

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Opposition will field a joint, non-Congress candidate for the upcoming vice-presidential elections. Leaders of various Opposition parties are expected to meet on July 17 to discuss the matter, said sources.

The Congress has reached out to all like-minded parties to discuss a unanimous candidate for the vice-presidential election next month. Yashwant Sinha, the Opposition's joint presidential candidate, was a TMC functionary before he resigned from all party posts to contest.

Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge, will host Opposition leaders to discuss details of the vice-presidential elections along with the floor strategy for the monsoon session starting July 18. Although the Opposition does not have the numbers to ensure the victory of its candidates, the leaders of these parties have termed it as an ideological battle against the BJP government.

PREZ POLLS

Cautious BJP training lawmakers to ensure no vote is wasted

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

IT is a straight fight between the NDA nominee Droupadi Murmu and the Opposition's nominee Yashwant Sinha. As the NDA\BJP is preparing for the presidential polls scheduled for Monday, the idea is simple, not a single vote should be wasted.

They have held a meeting of all chief whips of all 30 states in the party office in Delhi on Wednesday afternoon where the National BJP General Secretary organising B L Santosh, Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Shekawat, General Secretaries — Vinod Tawde, C T Ravi, Bhupendra Yadav, Om Pathak and others have briefed the chief whips and election agents about ensuring that the BJP's electoral resources are efficiently utilised and that not even one vote is wasted due to absence or due to cross voting, since it is a secret ballot.

Remember during the previous election 17 MPs votes of all parties were disqualified because of technical errors. This is part of the party's series of drills before the presidential polls to ensure that the NDA nominee is elected as president on 18 July.

The chief whips of BJP party where they are in power and where they are in the opposition had gathered for this meeting. In turn the Chief Whips will hold meetings with their elected representatives in their respective states and instruct them about the rules of voting and instruct their party representatives to ensure 100 per cent attendance.

Sources said since this election is by secret ballot and there is no showing of the ballot slips to the party chief whips, the challenge of ensuring there is no cross-voting is much larger.

To ensure perfection all the elected representatives will be called to participate in a mock drill on Saturday where they will be tutored in the fine art of "voting".

16th round of India-China military talks on Sunday

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

AMID increased tensions in the airspace over Line of Actual Control in Ladakh due to high intensity air exercise by Chinese Air Force, India and China Corps Commander will hold the 16th round of talks on Sunday to discuss further disengagement in the friction points in the sector.

Sources in the defence establishment said, "The Corps Commanders will be meeting in the Moldo area, on the Chinese side of the LAC."

The Leh-based Fire and Fury Corps Commander Lt Gen Anindya Sengupta will be leading the Indian side and will be meeting China's South Xinjiang Military District Commander Major General Yang Lin.

There has been a state of stalemate since the 13th round of the Corps Commander level talks held on October 10, 2021. Things on the ground did not change even after the 15th Round of SHMCL talks on March 11, 2022 at the Chushul-Moldo meeting point on the Indian side.

The talks have resulted in the resolution of the North & South Bank of Pangong Tso (North and South Banks), Galwan (Patrolling Point 14) and Gogra (PP 17A) areas. Each side currently has around 50,000-60,000 troops along the LAC in the sensitive sector.

UGC asks univs to fix admission dates after CBSE Class 12 results

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE University Grants Commission (UGC) on Wednesday asked higher education institutions (HEIs) to select the last date for admission to undergraduate programmes after the CBSE declares Class 12 board exam results.

This, the UGC said, will ensure that the Central Board of Secondary Education Class 12 students get enough time to apply for the UG courses.

UGC Chairman M. Jagadesh Kumar tweeted: "UGC requests all the higher educational institutions to fix the last date of their undergraduate admission process after declaration of result of Class 12 by CBSE to provide sufficient time to such students for admission in undergraduate courses."

In a letter addressed to vice-chancellors, principals and directors of all HEIs, UGC Secretary Rajnish Jain has asked them to fix the last date for first-year courses after the Class 12 results so that no student is deprived of admissions.

"It has come to the notice that some universities have started registration in undergraduate courses for the session (2022-2023). In this scenario, the students from CBSE will be deprived of admission in the undergraduate courses if the universities fix the last date before the CBSE result declaration," Jain wrote.

"It is therefore requested that all the higher educational institutions may fix the last date of their undergraduate admission process after declaration of result of Class 12 by CBSE to provide sufficient time to such students for admission in undergraduate courses," he added.

In the letter, the UGC said that the evaluation of term-11 is going on, and the process of result preparation will start. The final result will be declared by combining the weightage based on the terms' performance. The entire process will take about a month to declare the result.

The CBSE will likely declare the Class 10 and Class 12 results by the last week of July.

SC refuses to pass interim order staying demolitions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday refused to pass an interim direction staying demolitions across states, and said it cannot pass an omnibus order preventing authorities from taking action.

A bench of Justices B R Gavai and P S Narasimha said, "Nobody can dispute that the rule of law has to be followed. But can we pass an omnibus order? If we pass such an omnibus order, will we not prevent the authorities from taking action in accordance with law."

The top court was hearing a petition filed by Muslim body Jamiat Ulama-i-Hind seeking directions to the Uttar Pradesh government and other states to ensure that no further demolition of properties of alleged accused in recent cases of violence is carried out.

Senior advocate Dushyant Dave, appearing for Jamiat Ulama-i-Hind, said, "They have to act in accordance with law. They cannot take advantage of municipal laws and demolish houses of someone who is merely accused of crimes."

"This country cannot permit this" Dave said, while seeking a stay on the demolitions. Senior advocate C U Singh, appearing for one of the petitioners, said a similar modus operandi was followed in city after city.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta registered his objections over the locus of the petitioners. "The demolition process started much before the riots. Merely because you take part in riots doesn't give you immunity from illegal constructions being demolished," he said.

Senior advocate Harish Salve, appearing for the UP government, said the apex court cannot pass an order that a house of an accused should not be demolished notwithstanding any municipal law.

Free Covid booster dose for all adults from tomorrow at govt vax centres

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

IN view of the slow uptake of slow Covid-19 booster dose in the country, the Centre on Wednesday announced that doses would be administered free of cost to people above 18 years from July 15 for the next 75 days at government vaccination centres.

The Union cabinet decision came amidst concerns that less than one per cent of the target population of 77 crore in the 18-59 age group has been administered the booster or precaution dose. "Today's cabinet decision will further India's vaccination coverage and create a healthier nation," Prime Minister Narendra Modi tweeted.

The special drive will be held as part of the government's Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav to celebrate the 75th anniversary of India's Independence. "On the occasion of Azadi ka Amrit Kaal, it has been decided that from July 15 till the next 75 days, citizens above 18 years of age will be given booster doses free of cost," Union Minister Anurag Thakur said on Wednesday.

The government has been providing free booster doses to frontline and healthcare workers and those above 60 years. Many states, including Delhi, Haryana and Bihar, have already made free booster doses accessible to citizens, but many others have not done so. The Tamil Nadu government had last month sought approval for administering booster doses free of cost at government vaccination centres instead of paid ones at private vaccination centres.

Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said he decision will further strengthen India's fight against Covid-19 and add an extra layer of safety. "I urge all eligible to get their precaution dose at the earliest," the health minister tweeted.

The ministry had on July 6 reduced the gap between the second and precaution dose from the existing nine months to six months for those aged above 18 years.

Dr N K Arora, head of the Covid-19 Working Group of the National Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation (NTAGI), had earlier told TNIE that the uptake of precaution doses has been slow in the 18-60 group. He added that with the gap to get the booster shot reduced, it would further decrease.

Seeing the dismal response to the booster shots amidst the hike in Covid cases, the health ministry launched the two-month-long Har Ghar Dastak 2.0 campaign in June to expedite vaccination coverage through door-to-door campaigns. However, that also did not show any desired results.

Commuters wade through a waterlogged area after heavy rains in Ahmedabad | PTI

HEAVY rains continue to lash several parts of the country, taking lives, damaging property, and disrupting livelihood.

In Maharashtra, 89 people have died while 68 others have been injured and four people are missing due to the heavy and continuous downpour. In Gujarat, 14 people have been killed in rain-related incidents in the last 24 hours, as heavy showers ravaged parts of south Gujarat and Kutch-Saurashtra regions. Over 31,000 people have been evacuated so far this rainy season in Gujarat, officials said on Wednesday.

In the last 13 days, many regions of Maharashtra, including Mumbai, have received very heavy rainfall, leaving 249 villages badly hit. A total of 7,796 people have been evacuated from different parts of the state. As many as 1,368 houses have got partially damaged while 44 are completely damaged. The state government has opened 35 relief camps for the displaced people. Maximum damage has taken place in Gadchiroli, Palghar and Nagpur districts. Four landslide incidents have been reported, leading to the death of four people.

In Madhya Pradesh, Betul and Harda districts have been the hit the worst by heavy rainfall, with many rivers being in spate. Six members of a family, led by 65-year-old Madhukar Patil who was on his way to Nagpur to drop his daughter and grandson, were swept away in a flooded nullah on Tuesday evening. The family was travelling in a SUV, and decided to proceed on an overflowing culvert in the Kelvad area of Nagpur's Saoner area (located on Chhindwara-Betul-Nagour junction), but were swept away along with the vehicle.

The government machinery in the affected states is monitoring the situation closely. Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde has asked the administration to extend all possible help to people who are trapped at various places.

Gujarat Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel on Wednesday reviewed the situation in five districts of the state affected by heavy rain. A red alert was sounded via the chief minister's dashboard after aerial inspection. Patel has instructed the administration to give Rs. 4 lakh to all those who have died in rain-related incidents. State Disaster minister Rajendra Trivedi said 31 civilians have lost thir life since July 7 this monsoon season in the state.

The India Meteorological Department (IMD) has warned of heavy to very heavy rainfall in Maharashtra in Palghar, Raigad, Ratnagiri, Nasik, Pune, Kolhapur and Gadchiroli over the next three days. In the last 24 hours, Palghar district has received the highest (74.6 mm) rainfall, followed by Raigad (72.7 mm) and Thane (70.08 mm). Mumbai has received 24.0 mm rainfall. In Pune, the Pimpri Chinchwad Municipal Corporation issued notices, asking private companies, including IT firms, to have their employees work from home for the next two days. In Mumbai, the BMC has asked people not to go near the seaside.

The government has declared a 'red alert' in Junagadh, Gir Somnath, Dangs, Navsari, and Valsad districts of Gujarat.

Meanwhile, in MP, during the last 24 hours, various areas of Betul district reported rainfall up to 250 mm, including Ghodadongri (250 mm), Chicholi (232 mm), and Bhimpur (195 mm).

Owing to incessant rains since Monday, the Machna river is in spate, cutting off Shahpur town and adjoining areas from other parts of Betul district. Road connectivity has also been lost between Betul and Bhopal, while movement of vehicles on the Betul-Indore state highway and Betul-Khandwa road has also been hit adversely.

In Harda district, heavy rains have paralysed normal life, forcing the closure of schools on Wednesday. Water flow has increased in Ajnar river, while the mighty Narmada is also rising. The IMD has sounded a red alert of very heavy rains in all districts of Narmadapuram division over the next 24 hours.

Leaders given mud bath to appease rain god

Lucknow: With monsoon playing truant in eastern Uttar Pradesh, the women of Maharajganj district on Tuesday night sought to appease the rain god by giving a mud bath to BJP MLA Jai Mangal Kanaujiya and Municipal Council chairman Krishna Gopal Jaiswal. As part of the ritual, the women also sang folk songs to please Indra Devta. "People are suffering in this sultry weather. Crops are drying up. This is a ritual based on an old belief, so we decided to be a part of it if it helps in any way," Kanaujiya said.

Farmers stare at crop failure as monsoon dodges Bengal

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

LACK of rainfall has halted the sowing of paddy in several districts of West Bengal, leaving lakhs of people as well as the government worried about an impending drought-like situation. Official sources said, only 4.87 per cent of the target coverage of 41.81 lakh hectares has been achieved in this kharif season.

"As paddy sowing is not possible due to lack of rainfall, rural labourers are left without jobs,'' said an agriculture department official.

Several agriculture-intensive districts, like Nadia, Hooghly, East Burdwan, Murshidabad and Birbhum, have recorded severe shortage of rainfall until now. East Burdwan district, known as rice bowl of Bengal, has received 54 per cent less than normal rainfall, while the corresponding figures for Birbhum and Murshidabad are 69 per cent and 67 per cent, respectively. Nadia and Hooghly districts have received 58 per cent and 28 per cent less than normal rainfall, respectively.

"Besides local villagers, migrant labourers from backward regions like Purulia, West Midnapore and Bankura are also sitting jobless and without income,'' said the official.

The delay in sowing can adversely impact paddy production. "Over 84 per cent seedbeds are ready, but sowing can start only after adequate downpour," another official said.

Raje's activism creates buzz in Rajasthan BJP

Former CM Vasundhara Raje stepping up her visibility in the field has been causing big buzz in Rajasthan BJP these days. Raje is now seen more in the field rather than being busy in 'Twitter politics'. Raje has been turning vocal every day. Her loyalists want the party high command to declare Raje as the CM candidate again but Home Minister Amit Shah has said that the next assembly poll will be fought under the leadership of PM Modi. A day later, she met Amit Shah in Delhi and set tongues wagging. Some say she is creating pressure to be named CM face again, as others assert that Raje may become BJP's veep choice after Venkaiah Naidu.

Teen gets ear implant in free of cost scheme

Doctors at the Sawai Mansingh Hospital successfully implanted an auditory brainstem response device on a 14-year-old girl who had lost the ability to hear after an infection and had even stopped speaking. Auditory brainstem implant is a modern device that is installed in the inner part of the brain through the bone behind the ear. It is useful for patients in whom the internal organs of the ear are unable to function for hearing. Her family could not afford the surgery, which is done only in Chennai and Hyderabad in the country. They had even collected ₹15 lakh through crowdfunding for her treatment. Now the teenager has been cured through a free operation under the state government's Nirogi Rajasthan Scheme.

Shining example of brotherhood on Eid

On 'Eid-ul-Azha', Muslim brothers in Jaipur set a shining example of Ganga-Jamuni tehzeeb by shouldering the responsibility of organising a Hindu funeral. Satinder Pal, a resident of Jaipur's Sanjay Nagar Basti, died on Saturday due to illness. However, there were not enough people in Pal's family to perform his rites. But people of the Muslim community living in his neighbourhood came forward to lead his funeral procession and everyone who saw the Hindu-Muslim unity in the funeral procession of about 2 km, praised it. It was only after performing all rituals for Pal at the crematorium that his Muslim neighbours returned to observe Eid.

Police produce Sanjiv Bhatt in court in Ahmedabad on Wednesday | PTI

FORMER IPS officer Sanjiv Bhatt, who was arrested on Tuesday through a transfer warrant in a case of conspiring to falsely implicate innocent people in the 2002 communal riots, was on Wednesday sent to Special Investigation Team (SIT) custody till July 20.

His arrest comes days after social activist Teesta Setalvad and former Director General of Police of Gujarat, R B Sreekumar, were held by the authorities in the same case.

"We took Sanjiv Bhatt's custody from Palanpur jail on transfer warrant and formally arrested him on Tuesday evening," Ahmedabad Crime Branch's Deputy Commissioner of Police, Chaitanya Mandlik, said.

Bhatt has been in Palanpur jail since 2018 after he was convicted in a 27-year-old case, wherein he was accused of falsely framing a Rajasthan-based lawyer by planting narcotics on him. During this trial, he was also sentenced to life for a custodial death case in Jamnagar.

On June 24, the Supreme Court dismissed a challenge brought by Zakia Ehsan Jafri that contested the SIT's closure report and claimed a bigger plot involving officials and other parties in Gujarat riots that followed the Godhra incident.

U'khand readies for 4cr Kanwar yatris with 10K cops, 400 CCTV cameras, anti-terror squads

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

UTTARAKHAND expects a record 4 crore Shiv devotees during the Kanwar Yatra that resumed today after two years following the Covid-19 pandemic. The state police have made adequate security arrangements for the safety of pilgrims.

The devotees of Lord Shiva visit Haridwar and Rishikesh in the hill state during the yatra to collect waters of the Ganga river and make an offering of it at Shivalayas back home.

The state government has declared the 60-km highway from Roorkee to Neelkanth (Pauri Garhwal) as a Mela Zone. The 15-day influx of devotees will continue to the river until July 27.

The state police have deployed 10,000 personnel to monitor the pilgrim progress scanned through 400 CCTV cameras. Five anti-terrorist teams will keep an eye in 38 yatra areas with the assistance of drones.

The police are concerned about the lack of parking in the Neelkanth area, where devotees converge to collect the holy Ganga water.

Director General of Police Ashok Kumar told TNIE that apart from the deployment of forces, a bomb disposal squad has also been deployed for round-the-clock security. "For the entire duration of yatra, we will also ensure that commuters don't face any inconvenience. We have made arrangements for alternative routes along Meerut-Bijnor-Kotdwar-Muzaffarnagar-Dehradun to avoid traffic chaos," said Kumar.

The DGP will be personally looking after parking arrangements at Neelkanth.

The police have also appealed to the yatra participants to get their registration done at the earliest.

The administration has made arrangements for parking of 22,000 buses at Bairagi camp, Haridwar District Magistrate Vinay Shankar Pandey said, adding that while government and private hospitals will be ready to take care of the Kanwariyas, 17 temporary medical camps are also being set up to provide medical facilities to them, he said.

To smoothen the challenges faced during crowd management, Haridwar has been divided into eight super zones, 27 zones and 100 sectors, Pandey added.

The Kanwar yatra routes will also be under drone surveillance round the clock. Also, no Shiva devotee will be allowed to enter the Haridwar town with spears and other weapons, the DM said.

Miffed with Sena, Aghadi allies hint at rethinking ties

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

SHIV Sena president Uddhav Thackeray's decision of extending support to BJP nominee Droupadi Murmu for the Presidential poll has not gone well with its allies — the Congress and NCP.

Uddhav had said that they took the decision keeping the "larger interest of the country" in view.

Congress leader Balasaheb Thorat said the Sena faction led by Uddhav is part of the Maha Vikas Aghadi so they should have consulted with alliance partners before announcing support to Murmu.

A senior NCP leader also said that in crisis, Congress and the NCP stood with Uddhav when his own left him. "The entire defections in Shiv Sena was orchestrated and engineered by the BJP and still Shiv Sena president wants to support the BJP candidate. This stand baffles us. Even if he took such a decision, he should have informed us that he is taking a different stand."

> Congress and NCP are secular while Shiv Sena is a Hindutva party. Now, time has come to decide whether to remain in Aghadi and continue to support Sena's agenda indirectly

Assembly polls in view, J&K Congress cadre vow support to new party chief

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Congress leaders in Jammu and Kashmir have authorised the party high command to nominate the J&K Pradesh Congress Committee (J&KPCC) chief, after G A Mir stepped down from the post to pave way for a change in guard ahead of the Assembly polls in the Union Territory.

A senior J&K Congress leader said party leaders from J&K, including Mir, working president Raman Bhalla, ex-deputy CM Tara Chand and others met Congress general secretary K C Venogopal, Ambika Soni and Ghulam Nabi Azad in New Delhi on Wednesday to discuss the current political situation in J&K.

Mir had been at the helm of affairs since 2014, with the party failing to fare well during his tenure in the Assembly polls. He himself lost the parliamentary elections from Anantnag Lok Sabha seat in 2019 and the party performed dismally in the first-ever DDC election in 2020.

A Congress leader said the cadre has assured that it would extend full support to the new J&KPCC chief.

Sources in Congress party said Vikar Rasool, who is a former minister, is the top favourite to replace Mir, as he is acceptable to all and is also close to former J&K Chief Minister and senior Congress leader Ghulam Nabi Azad.

The first-ever Assembly polls in J&K Union Territory is likely to be held by the end of this year.

Win Kashmiri hearts, Abdullah tells Centre

Srinagar: A day after militants shot dead an ASI and injured two other policemen, NC president Farooq Abdullah on Wednesday said, "Their (BJP) ministers and other leaders issue statements repeatedly that it has ended, but this will not end till you do not try to win the hearts of the people of Kashmir."

At 135, India low in its gender parity ranking

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

INDIA was ranked low at 135th place in terms of gender parity, despite climbing five places since last year on better performance in areas of economic participation and opportunity, as per the annual Gender Gap Report 2022 of the World Economic Forum released on Wednesday.

Only 11 countries were ranked below India on the index of 146 nations, with Afghanistan, Pakistan, Congo, Iran and Chad being the worst five. Iceland retained its place as the world's most gender-equal country. Though India's gender gap score recorded its seventh-highest level in the last 16 years, it continues to rank among the worst performers on various parameters.

India recovered ground since 2021 and improved its performance on economic participation and opportunity. But, labour force participation shrunk for both men and women since 2021. However, the share of women legislators, senior officials and managers increased from 14.6% to 17.6%. And the percentage of women as professional and technical workers grew from 29.2% to 32.9%.

TROOPS WATCH AS PROTESTERS SWARM LANKAN PM'S OFFICE

Fourth government building to fall to agitators turns into another public attraction

COLOMBO

SRI Lankan troops stood with their weapons lowered in the grounds of the prime minister's office Wednesday, doing nothing to halt the huge mass of people wandering through the compound, despite orders to "restore order".

Some of the civilians sang or waved the Sri Lankan flag, with its motif of a golden lion brandishing a sword, after they lobbed back tear gas canisters and pushed past elite commandos on Wednesday to occupy the premises in the capital Colombo.

Thousands of people cheered as they breached the walls of the colonial-era compound on a leafy boulevard, opening yet another symbol of state power to the public.

The office was the fourth government building occupied by protesters in as many days, following the seizure of the president's seafront office and the official residences of Sri Lanka's two most senior elected officials.

And as with those earlier conquests, by evening the compound had been repurposed into a public attraction, with demonstrators who helped storm the building hours earlier now chaperoning others through its rooms.

"We feel proud," said Satish Bee, a businessman who came to explore the compound once the dust had settled.

Demonstrators inside the office of Sri Lanka's prime minister | AFP

"There's no proper governance in this country. It has never been good... The youngsters, they don't want to continue like this."

People began mobbing the office in the morning, after news spread through the capital that Rajapaksa — blamed by many for driving the country to economic ruin — had left the island nation on a military aircraft bound for the Maldives in the early hours.

What followed was an object lesson in patience and strategy from a crowd hardened by earlier confrontations with security forces over months of protests. Some carried red traffic cones to smother and safely extinguish tear gas rounds periodically fired into the street by guards stationed along the walls.

Others guided friends or strangers blinded by the smoke to safety behind the cover of a wall, helping to flush their eyes with fluid.

Bolder members of the crowd peeled off a part of the gate and sections of wrought iron fence, prompting fresh barrages of tear gas — and loud cheers when still-smouldering canisters were thrown back at the troops that fired them. Dhaniz Ali, one of those walking through the compound after it was occupied, told AFP that protesters would continue to find new government buildings to occupy.

MILITARY URGES POLITICAL RESOLUTION

Sri Lanka's military and the police on Wednesday requested the Speaker of Parliament to call an all-party leaders' meeting and inform them of the steps they will take to ensure a political resolution to the "current conflict" in the run up to the appointment of a new president. In a statement, Chief of Defence Staff General Shavendra Silva made "a special appeal" to the people to support the three forces and the police to maintain law and order

PROTESTS GREET GOTABAYA AS HE ARRIVES IN MALDIVES

Sri Lankan expatriates carrying flags and placards denounced Gotabaya Rajapaksa as he arrived in Maldives after fleeing Sri Lanka early Wednesday. Local media carried unverified videos of residents shouting insults at Rajapaksa as he walked out of the Velana International airport following his arrival on a military aircraft. Local reports suggested that Rajapaksa would leave for either the United Arab Emirates or Singapore later Wednesday.

Fonseka tells forces not to take orders from Ranil

COLOMBO

SRI Lanka's former Army chief and Member of Parliament Field Marshal Sarath Fonseka on Wednesday urged the country's armed forces to not take orders from the acting President Ranil Wickremesinghe as directives issued by him were "against the Constitution."

"Ranil Wickremesinghe has identified himself as the acting President and the directives issued by such a person are against the Constitution," he said in a statement.

Fonseka is said to be leading the race for the new all-party prime minister.

The police fired tear gas on protesters who broke through a barricade and stormed the prime minister's office, calling for his resignation as well as that of the president.

Fonseka, 71, also appealed to the armed forces to refrain from using their weapons against innocent and unarmed citizens and instead use them against corrupt politicians.

Fonseka was the 18th Commander of the Sri Lankan Army, and it was under his leadership that the three-decades long civil war ended in 2009 following the defeat of the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (LTTE).

He also briefly served as the Chief of the Defence Staff. PTI

No meds, don't get sick or injured, Lankans told

COLOMBO

DON'T fall ill or get into accidents: That's the advice doctors in Sri Lanka are giving patients as the country's economic crisis leaves its health care system short of drugs and other vital supplies.

Some doctors have turned to social media to try to get donations of supplies or the funds to buy them. They're also urging Sri Lankans living overseas to help. So far there's no sign of an end to the crisis that has thrust the country into an economic and political meltdown.

That means 15-year-old Hasini Wasana might not get the medicine she needs to protect her transplanted kidney. Diagnosed with a kidney ailment as a toddler, she got a transplant nine months ago and needs to take an immune suppressant every day for the rest of her life to prevent her body from rejecting the organ.

Hasini's family is depending on donors to help now that her hospital can no longer provide the Tacrolimus tablets that she received for free until a few weeks ago. She takes eight and a half tablets a day and the cost adds up to more than $200 a month, just for that one medicine.

Colombo, said his hospital has resorted to providing medicine only to patients whose illness has advanced to the stage where they need dialysis. Nugawela worries the hospital might have to put off all but the most urgent surgeries because of a shortage of suture materials.

The Sri Lanka College of Oncologists gave a list of drugs to the Health Ministry that "are very essential, that all hospitals have to have all the time so that we could provide cancer treatment without any interruption," said Dr. Nadarajah Jeyakumaran, who heads the college.

Nuclear attack warning spooks New Yorkers

New York: New York City residents are accustomed to warnings about all kinds of potential threats severe weather, public health, mass shootings. But a new PSA on surviving a nuclear attack has rattled some cages. Released this week by the city's emergency management agency, the 90-second video advises citizens to stay indoors and wash off any radioactive dust or ash. It opens on a computer-generated street, devoid of life. Damaged skyscrapers can be seen in the background. The city authorities later clarified that it was about raising awareness of something most people haven't given much thought. Mayor Eric Adams has said he doesn't believe the video was alarmist, telling reporters on Tuesday "I'm a big believer in better safe than sorry." New York's emergency response program, Ready New York, has been around since 2003.

Rishi Sunak tops first round of voting for Tory leadership

LONDON

INDIAN-ORIGIN UK Conservative leader Rishi Sunak bagged most votes in the first round of voting to lead the Conservative Party and the country.

Two candidates were knocked out of the race, leaving six lawmakers in the fray.

Sunak received 88 votes. He was followed by Trade Minister Penny Mordaunt, who is scoring highly in polls of Conservative members, with 67 votes, and Foreign Secretary Liz Truss, with 50. Lawmaker Tom Tugendhat, ex-Equalities Minister Kemi Badenoch and Attorney General Suella Braverman also remain on the ballot.

The candidates are jostling to replace Johnson, who quit as Conservative leader last week amid a party revolt triggered by months of ethics scandals. He will remain in office as a caretaker prime minister until his replacement as party chief is chosen.

Mordaunt, at her official campaign launch on Wednesday, said the party had "standards and trust to restore" after the scandal-tarnished Johnson years.

She said voters "are fed up with us not delivering, they are fed up with unfulfilled promises and they are fed up with divisive politics."

The slate of candidates is strikingly diverse, with four contenders from ethnic minorities and four women. But all are offering similar tax-slashing pledges, with only Sunak offering a note of caution.

He has cast himself as the candidate of fiscal probity, saying said the country needs "honesty and responsibility, not fairytales" to get through economic shockwaves from the coronavirus pandemic and the war in Ukraine. Supporters of the other candidates have improbably depicted Sunak — whose heroine is former Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher — as a left-winger. Johnson's office has denied running a campaign to bad-mouth Sunak, whose resignation last week helped end the prime minister's reign.

A spokeswoman insisted Johnson was remaining neutral in the campaign to choose his replacement. Johnson struck a valedictory note at his weekly Prime Minister's Questions session in the House of Commons. He hinted it could be his last appearance there.

TWO-STAGE PROCESS

- The new party leader will be chosen in a two-stage election, in which the 358 Conservative lawmakers reduce the race to two candidates through a series of elimination votes
- The final two contenders will face a runoff vote by about 1,80,000 Conservative Party members across the country
- The first round of voting was held on Wednesday, with candidates who fail to get at least 30 votes eliminated

BIDEN KICKS OFF HIS FIRST WEST ASIA TOUR AS US PREZ

JERUSALEM

US President Joe Biden on Wednesday kicked off a West Asia tour in Israel where both sides vowed to deepen the Jewish state's integration in the region as they face their common foe Iran.

Biden — whose first regional tour since taking office will also take him to Saudi Arabia — pledged strong backing for Israel, which has forged ties with several Arab states in recent years and hopes to do so with Riyadh as well.

"We'll continue to advance Israel's integration into the region," Biden said after Air Force One touched down at Ben Gurion airport near Tel Aviv to a red-carpet welcome.

Israel's caretaker prime minister Yair Lapid said that "we will discuss building a new security and economy architecture with the nations of the Middle East", following US-brokered accords in 2020 with the UAE, Bahrain and Morocco.

"And we will discuss the need to renew a strong global coalition that will stop the Iranian nuclear programme," he added, amid ongoing efforts by world powers to salvage Iran's frayed 2015 nuclear deal, which Israel opposes.

Biden's visit to Saudi Arabia on Friday will be the major focus of the tour, after he branded the oil-rich kingdom an outcast over the 2018 murder of dissident Saudi journalist Jamal Khashoggi.

The trip is seen as part of efforts to stabilise oil markets rattled by the war in Ukraine, by re-engaging with a long-time key US strategic ally and major energy supplier.

Air Force One will make a first direct flight from Israel to Saudi Arabia amid efforts to build ties between the Jewish state and the kingdom. AFP

Fancy a dinner at world's northernmost Michelin restaurant?

ILIMANAQ

YOU can only get there by boat or helicopter, but Michelin-starred chef Poul Ziska hopes his restaurant in remote Greenland, far above the Arctic Circle, is worth the journey. The 30-year-old chef relocated his restaurant KOKS from the Faroe Islands in mid-June, leaving behind his relatively accessible address for Ilimanaq, a hamlet of 50 inhabitants hidden behind icebergs on the 69th parallel north.

Housed in a narrow black wooden house, one of the oldest in Greenland, the restaurant can only accommodate about 20 people per service, and experiments with local produce, including whale and seaweed, with fresh produce almost impossible to find in the harsh climate. "We try to focus on as much Greenlandic products as possible, so everything from Greenland halibut to snow crabs to musk ox to Ptarmigan, different herbs and different berries," the tousled-haired, bearded chef tells AFP.

KOKS restaurantnts

The young chef previously ran KOKS at home in the remote Faroe Islands, where he won his first star in 2017, his second in 2019, and the title of the world's most isolated Michelin restaurant. He plans to return there for a permanent installation, but explains he had always wanted to stretch his gastronomical legs in another territory in the far north, like Iceland, Greenland or even Svalbard. He finally chose Ilimanaq, located an hour's boat trip from Ilulissat, the third-largest town in Greenland and famous for its huge glacier. "We just found it more suitable, more fun to do something completely different before we move back in our permanent restaurant," he tells AFP. With 20 courses, the extensive tasting menu will delight the taste buds for some $280, excluding wine and drinks.

Airlines say talks on with protesting employees

Technicians at IndiGo took mass sick leave last week to protest low salary, among other things; followed by Go First AMTs taking sick leaves

ARSHAD KHAN @ NewDelhi

AMID ongoing protests by technicians at two private airlines over poor pay, IndiGo said they are in the process of addressing some of the 'issues' flagged by its employees, while Wadia Group-promoted Go First said the absentees have assured them to return to work from Wednesday or Thursday.

A significant number of technicians at IndiGo in Hyderabad and New Delhi took mass sick leave last week to protest against low salary, changes in leave policy, among other things. This was followed by Go First (previously known as GoAir) aircraft maintenance technicians (AMTs) taking sick leaves to protest against their low salaries.

"The aviation industry has undergone a difficult phase over the last 24+ months. As business recovers, we are in the process of addressing some of the issues related to employee remuneration. This is an ongoing activity and we will continue to take employee feedback in the process," said IndiGo on Wednesday. It added that their operations continued to be normal. IndiGo, which controls over half of India's aviation market, has faced numerous HR setbacks in recent months. Just a few days back, its cabin crew took mass leave to attend Air India's recruitment drive and a few months back its pilots had protested against pay cuts. Like previous cases, this time too IndiGo has initiated disciplinary actions against the aircraft maintenance technicians (AMTs) who went on mass sick leave. A senior captain with IndiGo, on the condition of anonymity, said the airline, which used to greatly value its employees, has become a not-so-friendly place to work in the last few years. "The technicians can't be paid or made to work like delivery boys or cab drivers," he said.

Go First, meanwhile, said there are a few technicians who were absent for 2-3 days. A spokesperson with the airline said they have reinstated staff from "Leave without Pay" to normal working conditions and restored salaries to pre-covid level since August-September 2021. "During the course of discussions we understood that our employees were misguided and after counselling they are happy to note/take cognizance the efforts of the company amid the turbulent volatile scenario and few people who had absented themselves from duties have assured us to resume from today or tomorrow," the spokesperson said.

India's crude imports from Russia up 7.2X in April-May

RAKESH KUMAR @ NewDelhi

INDIA'S crude oil imports from Russia surged a whopping 620% or, over 7 times to $3.2 billion in the April-May 2022 period, according to the data released by the commerce ministry. The coal imports also surged 266% to $425 million for the same period.

Overall, India sourced nearly 10% of its oil imports from Russia. It imported crude and petroleum oils worth $30.9 billion during the period, out of which $3.2 billion is from Russia.

India, which used to import around 2% of its oil needs from Russia, has enhanced its imports ever since war broke out between Russia and Ukraine. Russia is the world's second-largest oil producer, and it supplies around 35% natural gas to Europe. However, following the war, the western countries have put various sanctions on Russia, including banning Russian crude in the European market. These western countries are continuously pressuring India to not to trade crude from Moscow on 'cheaper rate'.

In 2021, India sourced oil worth $441 million from Russia for April-May period. In May 2022, it imported oil worth $1.9 billion, which was last year only $215 million. Similarly, the coal import also hiked manifold as India imported coal worth of $116.01 million in April to May period 2021. In May 2022, India sourced coal worth $201.91 million, which was just 71.34 million in May 2021.

India is the world's third largest oil importer, and it imports nearly 80% of its crude requirement. It imports 52.7% from the Middle Eastern countries, 15% from Africa and 14% from the US. It sources around 86% of crude oil, 75% of natural gas, and 95% of LPG from members of the Organisation of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC+). Last year, it purchased 12 million barrels of crude oil from Russia, which is just 2% of its total imports. It is less than its own domestic production.

HARSHAD MEHTA'S WIFE DEFENDS HER LATE HUSBAND

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

JYOTI MEHTA, widow of Harshad Shantilal Mehta, has claimed in a website launched to defend her late husband that the stockbroker was summoned for a meeting with the then PM Narasimha Rao on November 4, 1991, to ostensibly "boost" the markets and that he would have the "blessings" of the government in doing so.

Harshad, she claimed, was accompanied by his younger brother Ashwin Mehta, Sunil Mittal, founder of Bharti Enterprises, and his father Satpal Mittal. "In the said meeting, the Hon'ble Prime Minister conveyed that the foreign currency situation of the country was alarming as there were reserves of only about 7 days and if they were not shored up the country could default and become a 'banana republic,' which would jeopardize the plans of the government to turnaround the situation."

The late Prime Minister, she said, wanted to dispel the environment of "gloom" and "revive" the animal spirits and build up confidence in the economy by "boosting the stock markets" since it was widely considered to be a barometer of the economy.

"My husband was asked to boost the markets and a promise was made to him that he will have the blessings of the government in doing so. Harshad was called upon to serve the country at a most critical juncture and suggestions were also sought from him on the role that the stock market could play in providing the capital and boosting industrial growth."

Mrs Mehta said that courtesy over Harshad's several steps to boost the market sentiment thereafter and opening up of the economy, culminating in the dream budget of Feb 29, 1992, the market rose perpendicularly from 2,800 to 4,487 by April of that year itself. However it was in same month, the ₹4,000 crore scam, which hit banks and investors, erupted and caused the Sensex to tank 2,500. Mehta was arrested and died from a heart attack in police custody on December 30, 2001. He was accused of misusing bankers' receipts (BRs) in ready forward deals in the inter-bank market, raising cash against these and using the same to invest in the stock market, which saw stocks like ACC zoom from ₹200 to ₹9,000, earning him sobriquets of "Big Bull" and "Amitabh Bachchan of the stock market".

FinMin, RBI to discuss IDBI strategic sale on July 14

MONIKA YADAV @ NewDelhi

FINANCE MINISTRY and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) will meet on Thursday, July 14, to discuss strategic sale of IDBI bank, sources said. In the meeting, the officials will discuss the investors' responses received during the road shows for the stake sale.

"Officials of the Department of Financial Services (DFS), the Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM) and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) will meet on Thursday to discuss the strategic disinvestment of IDBI," the finance ministry source said.

"Finance ministry has sought certain relaxations from central bank with regard to promoters' shareholding, so this will be discussed along with the timeline by which the promoters' shareholding will be brought down," said the source.

Besides this, the ministry is also seeking relaxation in terms of holding limit of 10% by private equity (PE) firms. After the discussion with the RBI on these issues, the ministry will take a call on the quantum of stake sale in IDBI.

"Similarly, there are certain rules as per the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) also, which may come in conflict with RBI norms. So, we need to make a synergy between both the compliance norms," the source added. As per the RBI rules, promoters can have a minimum stake of 40% of the paid-up voting equity share capital of the private bank for the first five years.

The government and the life insurance behemoth Life Insurance Corporation (LIC) together hold 95% stake in IDBI. The Centre had announced its disinvestment plans for IDBI Bank in February 2021. It was expecting to complete the privatisation by March 2022.

High US inflation may force RBI to raise rates

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

US retail inflation topping 9.1% in June could have repercussions on India as the Reserve Bank of India may be forced to increase interest rates to keep pace with the US. The US Federal Reserve is widely expected to hike rates more sharply in view of the spike in inflation.

The latest inflation print at 9.1% (it was 8.6% in May) is higher than analysts' estimate of 8.8%. Analysts say the US Fed will raise rates by 75-100 basis points in July and 50-75 basis points in August. Such an action will strengthen the US dollar further, as more money from emerging markets will move to US safe havens.

"RBI will be forced to hike rates in sync with the US to keep the interest rate differential between the US and India within a range to protect the Rupee from further sharp depreciation," said capital markets expert Ajay Bagga.

India has already seen foreign portfolio investors taking out $23 billion from debt and equity markets since the start of 2022. This has led to over 7% fall in the value of rupee vis-a-vis the US dollar. Indian rupee was inching towards 80 a dollar level against 74.4 at the start of 2022. The rupee is currently trading around 79.8 levels.

The Indian central bank has already increased short term policy rates by 90 basis points in two months – (50 basis points in May and 40 basis points in June this year). With lower than estimated June inflation in India and falling crude oil prices, experts say RBI may go slow on rate hike. Consistently high inflation in the US may force the Fed to pursue a contractionary monetary policy — tightening liquidity and increasing short-term interest rates.

Mindtree Q1 net profit up 37%; says confident of growth momentum in H1

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

MIDCAP IT services firm Mindtree says it is confident of continuing its first quarter growth momentum, and is monitoring macroeconomic headwinds closely.

The company on Wednesday posted a 37% increase in its consolidated net profit at ₹471.6 crore for the quarter ended 30 June, 2022, compared to ₹343.4 crore in the same quarter last year. Beating street estimates, the company reported ₹3,121.1 crore revenue, a 36% increase as compared to ₹2,291.7 crore in the year-ago period. The company's EBITDA margin stood at 21.1%. It also saw the highest-ever order book of $570 million. "We are confident of continuing growth momentum. The first half of the year looks pretty good," said Debashis Chatterjee, chief executive officer and managing director, Mindtree.

He added that there has been no significant change in client behaviour. The company is closely watching macro-economic development, and is also continuously cautiously optimistic. In May this year, L&T announced the merger between its IT services business units- L&T Infotech (LTI) and Mindtree to form 'LTIMindtree'. Chatterjee will lead the entity, and the amalgamation is said to be completed by FY23.

For the combined entity, BFSI will be the largest vertical.

Mindtree CEO said clients are positive about the merger, and together they have also won a contract. Mindtree is also in the process of setting up offices in Coimbatore and Noida, and a satellite office in Bengaluru. In the June quarter, the Bengaluru-based company added 4,700 employees and the total headcount now stands at 37,455. The attrition rate in the first quarter increased to 24.5%, and Chatterjee said that it will take a few more quarters for the attrition to stabilise. Meanwhile, the company has hired 1,500 freshers in the June quarter, and is planning to hire similar numbers in the following quarters.

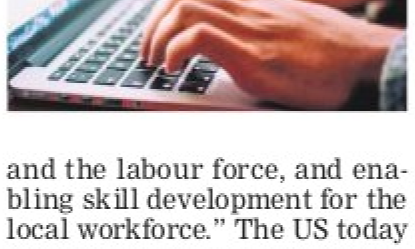
Indian tech companies provide employment to over 2 lakh people in US



UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

INDIAN technology industry has generated $103 billion revenue and directly employed over 2 lakh people in the US in 2021.

According to Nasscom reports, released on Wednesday, the Indian tech companies in the US continue to grow their presence, and today is a vital part of the US economies' innovation progress. With an average wage of $106,360, it is seeing a 22% of employment growth since 2017. The direct impact of the Indian tech industry has rippled through the US economy, generating $396 billion in US sales (output), supporting 1.6 million jobs and contributing over $198 billion to the US economy, which is larger than the combined economies of 20 US states in 2021, the reports said. Debjani Ghosh, President, NASSCOM said, "The Indian technology industry makes critical contributions to the US economy through local investments, fuelling innovation and the labour force, and enabling skill development for the local workforce." The US today has one of the largest demand supply gaps as compared to other geographies. The Indian tech sector works with over 75% of the fortune 500 companies, most of them headquartered in the US. The report added that these companies have contributed over $1.1 billion and developed partnerships with nearly 180 universities, colleges, community colleges, and others to strengthen and diversify the STEM pipeline in the US.

More women taking entrepreneur route: LinkedIn data

SAMIKSHA GOEL @NewDelhi

THE share of female founders has grown by 2.68x between 2016 and 2021 as against the share of male founders, which has grown nearly 1.79x during the same period, according to a report released on Wednesday.

New LinkedIn data, published in the World Economic Forum's 2022 Global Gender Gap Report, reveals despite India having disproportionately low representation of women in leadership, more women are now seeking entrepreneurship opportunities as compared to men. The report shows that the growth rate of female entrepreneurship was at its highest in 2020 and 2021. At the same time, the data also highlights a gloomy aspect for women in the workforce, revealing that women are not being promoted internally to leadership in companies at the same rate as men. Men, in fact, are 42% more likely to be promoted into leadership positions than women.

Ruchee Anand, Senior Director, India Talent & Learning Solutions, LinkedIn, says the new data is indicative of one thing, that working women in India are being held back by more barriers in the workplace when compared to men.

"But despite the adversity, many women remain undeterred and continue to chart their own path by pivoting to entrepreneurship and building careers that allow them to work on their own terms with greater flexibility. We saw this especially in the years of the pandemic (2020 and 2021), when women sheltered from a shrinking job market by starting their own businesses that also created opportunities for other women," Anand said. However, LinkedIn's data also reveals that more women are being hired into leadership roles from 8 years ago, shooting up to 24% this year – 1.36x since 2015.

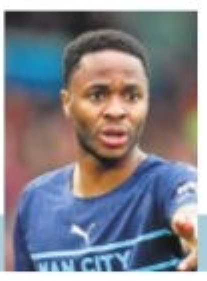
Sterling bids farewell to Manchester City



Raheem Sterling edged closer to a move to Chelsea as he bid farewell to Manchester City on Wednesday. Sterling is on the cusp of completing a transfer of around 50 million pounds to City's Premier League rival and he has reportedly flown out to Los Angeles to join up with Chelsea.

ON YOUR MARKS, GET SET FOR NEERAJ

Olympic gold medallist is in a relaxed mindframe ahead of the Worlds that begins in Eugene from Friday

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

USUALLY, before a major competition, Neeraj Chopra does not like to delve too much into results and consequences. His coach, Klaus Bartonietz, tries to evoke a kind of calmness in him. Like a hermit, Neeraj prefers to cut himself off from the distractions of the mortal world. He would rather focus steadfastly on the job in hand. After the Tokyo 2020 Olympic gold, with millions of eyes peering into that throw of the spear from the 24-year-old on the day of the final, that job has just become a little harder.

Neeraj's concentration is unflappable and like he said during a virtual interaction, "I focus on the job, that perfect throw and results will follow." Yes, there is pressure, but nothing human beings can't adapt to. His coach Klaus Bartonietz too tells him to go out and enjoy rather than "we need to do this or that". Listening to music, preparing mentally and some mirth in between are some of the rituals he undertakes. Training in Chula Vista was ideal too as "we have to adjust with US timing so there was no point training in India and also the weather here is very good." If everything goes as per plan, he will be the second Indian to win a medal at Worlds after Anju Bobby George (long jump, 2003).

On his last day in Chula Vista (evening in the US and morning in India), he found time to speak about the Worlds in Eugene, Oregon, beginning on July 15. He and the rest of Indian team training and acclimatising in Chula Vista will leave for Oregon late at night on Wednesday and would reach by Thursday. Neeraj talked about his training, how, as of now, he is in fine fettle. Also, going by his previous three throws at international events, confidence and consistency, the two words he would love to cling on to dearly, is flowing.

Neeraj Chopra with his German coach Klaus Bartonietz

"I have managed to throw very close to 90m (89.94m in Stockholm). It's close to 90m, so training and preparation are good," he said. Going forward, though competing at the Birmingham Commonwealth Games right after World Championships in very short interval would be a challenge, Neeraj is not overtly worried. He talked about the Zurich Diamond Final in 2018, which had just a two day gap after the Asian Games in Jakarta. "We have to adjust with the time in CWG and I think it should not be a problem," he said.

However, Neeraj acknowledged that the Worlds, in terms of competition will not be easy. Though he has been consistent with throws above 89m, Grenada's Anderson Peters has already crossed 90m thrice this season with a best of 93.07m at Doha in May. Czech Republic's Jakub Vadlejch too managed 90.88m. "All the big players like Anderson Peters, Jakub Valdech and Oliver Helander are there and the competition in javelin will be very intense," Neeraj said.

Like all players, Neeraj remembers his last Worlds in 2017 (London), not for the mark he managed but for the experience he had and the lessons he learnt. "I have learnt during such competition where there is qualifying, one has to start giving his best right from the start. I thought I could throw 83m but I couldn't." His advice to his teammate Rohit Yadav too would be this, besides asking him to go out there and enjoy and give his best.

Neeraj also liked to be among his teammates and was happy to cross-train with long-jumpers, sprinters and other throwers. "I am meeting them after a long time so it was nice to share some quality time with them and even liked training with them. I trained with Rohit, and also Annu Rani. I also did some sprints and jumps with other athletes." He also said that beside India, there are athletes from other countries like Portugal and Spain too.

With Neeraj inspiring the next gen athletes, he is even harbouring hopes of India winning three medals at major competitions like the Worlds one day. "Germany had three winners, we too can," he said. July 21 is the qualifying and July 23 is the final, and by the evening on that day, we will know if Neeraj will have added to very short list of medallists from India.

BIGGEST STAGE

Meet the Indian athletes

With the World Athletics Championships beginning on Friday, a look at some of the Indian athletes who have a chance of either winning or surprising.

NEERAJ CHOPRA

Men | Javelin| Qualifying July 21| Final July 24

He has been in red-hot form in 2022 with his consistency in landing the spear above the 85m mark. Has threatened to go over the 90m mark and if conditions are good, then he could rewrite his own national mark here. Can become the second Indian athlete after Anju Bobby George at the World stage.

ANNU RANI

Women | Javelin Qualifying July 20 Final July 22

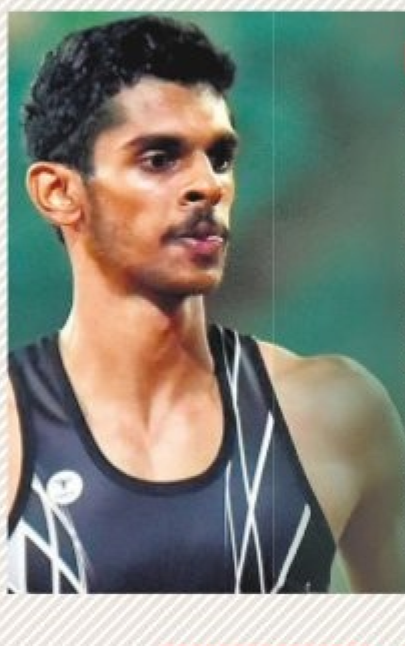
The seasoned performer isn't among the year's best in terms of distance but she does have the capacity to pull a surprise or two. Her best of 63.82, the national record she achieved earlier this year, is ninth best. She's in good form, having won two tune-up events in Kazakhstan and US over the last two or so weeks.



M SREESHANKAR

Men | Long jump | Qualifying July 15 | Final July 16

Another athlete who has enjoyed a fine start to the season. Has found the sweet spot — above the 8.20m mark — a place where long jumpers love to inhabit. In 2022 alone, he has three jumps over this including an 8.36m which is the second best this year. Will he finally be able to break the butterflies that's tended to stick with him during the big stage?

AVINASH SABLE

Men | 3000m steeplechase Qualifying July 15 Final July 18

Nobody likes breaking national records as much as the Armyman who hails from Beed district in Maharashtra. Since setting a personal best a few years ago, he has taken a significant chunk off it. If he can find that extra yard of pace and go under 8:05.00 minute mark (best is 8:12.48), anything can happen.

PRAVEEN CHITRAVEL

Men | Triple jump| Qualifying July 21 |Final July 23

The man from Tamil Nadu has really come into his own with a string of impressive jumps. In Chennai in June, he jumped 17.18m, 11th best this year. He's exceptionally quick on the runway and he does find significant air time. Speak to his team and they are of the opinion that a bigger jump could be around the corner.

VENUE EUGENE |Dates: July 15-24

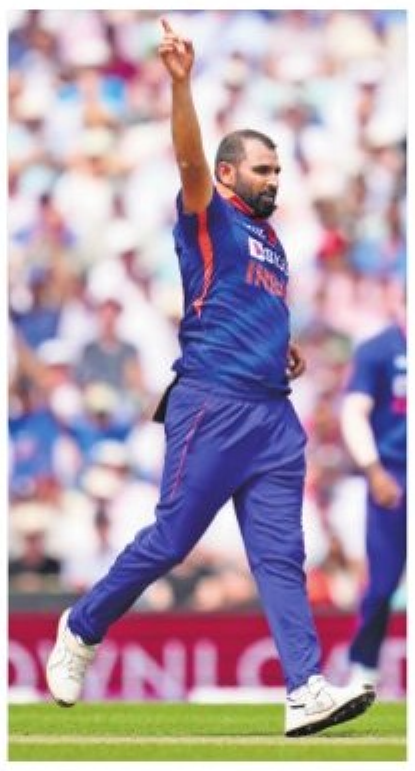
Of powerplay strikes and a timely reminder

GOMESH S @ Chennai

MOHAMMED Shami is a wicket-taker. If there was one thing that's been a constant about him through his career is that he is a strike bowler. He's not the kind who could hold one end up and bowl all day. Although he has added a bit of it to his arsenal in recent years, with Shami, it was always about taking wickets. And his strike rate in Test cricket is testament to that.



However, sometimes, it has cost him with respect to economy, especially in the shortest format (9.54 runs per over in 17 matches across seven years). In ODIs, he has fared much better, especially with Jaspirt Bumrah in company over the last few years. 2019 was his career-best year, having taken 42 scalps from 21 matches, including 14 wickets from four games in the World Cup.

Even when he was going over seven runs per over in 2020, there was no dearth of wickets. In six games during the pandemic-affected year, Shami bagged 12 wickets, cruising towards the 150-wicket mark. But a packed Test calendar and the rise of other pacers meant that he hardly got to play white-ball cricket in the year that followed.

After a forgettable T20 World Cup last year, the 31-year-old hit a roadblock of sorts. Wickets weren't coming in the powerplay. It was the case even in the IPL before the World Cup. Which is why, ahead of the 2022 edition, there was a bit of skepticism as to how he would fare at Gujarat Titans. And Shami came out in flying colours, swinging the new ball and taking wickets in the first six overs. 11 off his 20 scalps came in the powerplay — the most by a bowler in the edition.

As a result, he was back in the Indian team for the ODIs in England, and he did not take long to reach the milestone. With three wickets in the first ODI, Shami became the fastest Indian and third fastest bowler — second as a pacer behind Mitchell Starc, to take 150 ODI wickets.

"It wasn't a small break but of three years," said Shami after the match in a chat with bowling coach Paras Mhambrey on BCCI.tv. "Nothing was going on in my head regarding the gap. I've become very comfortable with the team. Everyone knows their job and after playing so much of cricket, if you come with a question mark in your mind, then I believe it's not good."

Clarity, courage and keeping it simple — the three things he talks about through the chat. While the clarity of mind and confidence in his abilities has helped him succeed, Shami said being "courageous from heart" was the key to do well irrespective of the format. "Personally speaking, reverting back to 'keep it simple' theory will be the best. If the wicket behaves a little differently, then you need to think a bit more," he said.

With a T20 World Cup and a home ODI World Cup coming up, both Shami and India would want him to keep following the three things that works for him. For there's one thing that's a constant about Shami — he is a wicket-taker.

Can Buttler and Co keep series alive?

After the thumping they got in the first ODI, the hosts would be keen to come back stronger and stay alive in the three-match series on Thursday. A look...

EYES ON ENGLAND BATTING

Although the hosts were all out for 110, one cannot write off their dynamic and proven batting line-up. The top-order made of Jason Roy, Jonny Bairstow, Joe Root and Ben Stokes, with Jos Buttler and Liam Livingstone to follow, are capable of turning things around.

SKIPPER ROHIT AMONGST RUNS

Rohit Sharma's unbeaten 76, with England pacers playing into his hands with their short-ball tactics, was a welcome sight for the tourists as the India captain hasn't scored a ton since January 2020. He would want to end the century drought in the top-order at Lord's, getting his name on the honours board.

INDIA'S SPIN ATTACK

While pacers did the job in the first ODI, it would be interesting to see how the Indian spinners, Yuzvendra Chahal and Ravindra Jadeja, fair. Especially, the latter, who averages 58.75 in 16 games in the last three years.

India beat Japan 3-1, finish 9th at WC

AGENCIES @Terrassa

AS Navneet Kaur struck twice against Japan on Wednesday, India won 3-1 in the 9-12th placings match Hockey Women's World Cup. Kaur (30', 45') starred for India, scoring a brace, while Deep Grace Ekka (38') also scored a crucial goal. For Japan, Yu Asai (20') scored the sole goal in the match.

India started on front foot as Neha passed the ball inside the circle towards Navneet Kaur to set up an early chance. A few minutes later Gurjit Kaur tried to give India the lead from a penalty corner. But Japan's Moeka Tsubouchi defended well.

In the second quarter, a penalty corner in the 20th minute led to Yu Asai opening the scoring for Japan.

Navneet Kaur equalised the score with a stunning late goal and the two teams went to half-time at 1-1.

An early penalty corner attempt from Gurjit Kaur in the second half went wide off the target. But a few minutes later, Deep Grace Ekka converted from another one to give India a 2-1 lead.

Japan conceded once again in the final seconds of the quarter as Navneet Kaur scored her second goal of the match, and India increased their lead to 3-1.

Final draft constitution of AIFF sent to FIFA

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

THE final draft constitution of the All India Football Federation (AIFF) was on Wednesday sent to the world governing body FIFA by the Committee of Administrators (CoA) which is currently running the sport in the country, according to sources.

The exercise was in consonance with the strict deadlines set by the FIFA-AFC team that visited the country last month to take stock of the situation after the Supreme Court ousted the Praful Patel-led dispensation of the AIFF for not holding elections on time.

The final draft constitution was also handed to the state associations which were represented in the discussions by a seven-member committee.

"The CoA has sent the final draft constitution to the FIFA today and also given to the state associations," said a top source, privy to the development. "The final draft will be sent to the Supreme Court on Thursday, to be filed on Friday (July 15)," the source added.

The seven-member committee had earlier said after a meeting with the CoA on July 6 that they were not happy with the way things have panned out and the final draft constitution "would not be a document which came out of consensus".

On June 23, the visiting FIFA-AFC team had set deadlines to clean up the Indian football mess, asking the stakeholders to get the constitution of the national federation approved by July 31 and conduct elections by September 15, failing which the country could be banned by the world body.

LEAGUE OVER WC QUALIFICATION

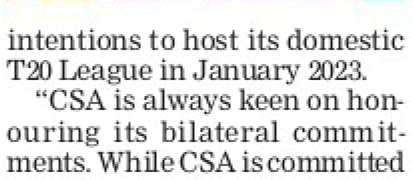
Franchise-based tournament in priority as CSA withdraws from OZ tour

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

IN a clear sign of where international cricket is heading, Cricket South Africa (CSA) on Wednesday officially withdrew from a bilateral three-match ODI series against Australia to ensure all their key players are available for their domestic T20 League. The yet-to-be-launched league is set to take place in the month of January and by informing Cricket Australia that it will not play the ODIs, CSA has put its men's team's direct qualification for the 2023 World Cup in jeopardy.

The cancellation of the series means Australia will be considered 3-0 winners and they will take home the points as the matches were scheduled under the ODI Super League. The top eight teams in the Super League have a direct entry to the 2023 World Cup scheduled to be hosted by India in October-November.

In a statement, CSA said it was engaged in talks with CA to find an alternate window to play the ODIs, but due to a busy international calendar the option didn't materialize. CA had announced its summer schedule towards May end, nearly a month after CSA revealed its intentions to host its domestic T20 League in January 2023.



"CSA is always keen on honouring its bilateral commitments. While CSA is committed to honouring its fixtures in respect of the Future Tours Programme there will sometimes be unforeseen circumstances that would negate this resolve. In the case of the Australia tour, CSA reached out to its counterpart months ago to reschedule the tour to mutually agreeable dates. CSA offered four options to that effect. Unfortunately, and to our disappointment, none of these were acceptable to Cricket Australia," CSA Chief Executive Officer, Pholetsi Moseki said.

The decision means South Africa's road to the 2023 World Cup has become all the more challenging. They are in the 11th spot with only four wins from 13 matches. The Proteas now have eight matches left and they are against: 3 vs India (away), 2 vs The Netherlands and 3 vs England at home. To qualify directly for the World Cup, South Africa have to win six of these eight matches, failing which they have to play the ICC Qualifiers against five Associate teams next June-July in Zimbabwe.

"CSA has agreed that the ICC award Australia the competition points. While we are saddened at losing the crucial points, we are confident that our in-form Proteas team will garner the requisite points through the remaining games to secure automatic qualification to the showpiece event in India next year," Moseki said.

That CSA is priortising its domestic T20 league ahead of World Cup qualification doesn't come as a surprise as it has been facing a financial crunch of late. By ensuring all of its star players are available for the T20 tournament, CSA expects it to position just behind the IPL. At least a couple of IPL franchises are showing interest to own the league. "As difficult as this decision has been for CSA, the long-term sustainability of our new T20 League is reliant on having all our domestic players available for this exciting new addition to the CSA calendar," Moseki added.

DAY'S DIARY

Bastille Day

It is celebrated annually as Bastille Day on this day with fireworks in France and French-speaking regions around the world

HISTORY OF REVOLUTION

The Storming of the Bastille took place in Paris, France in 1789. This violent attack on the government by the people of France signaled the start of the French Revolution

CELEBRATIONS THAT FOLLOW

There is a large military parade in Paris in the morning which ends with the Paris Fire Brigade. The French president opens the parade and reviews the troops

IMPORTANT SYMBOLS

The Eiffel Tower in Paris and the French national flag, or tricolour, are important symbols. The Bastille is a medieval fortress and prison

FIREWORKS, FROMAGE & A FETE

On Bastille Day, many French nationals in Bengaluru are gearing up to reconnect with their history and heritage

BACK IN TIME

The French Revolution was formally launched on July 14, 1789, when the Bastille prison in Paris was stormed. This event is commemorated as a national holiday.

CHEESE, wine and more cheese. The French National Day, La Fête Nationale, known as Bastille Day, falls on July 14, and the French celebrate it with fireworks and mouth-watering delicacies. French nationals in Bengaluru are observing the traditions as the celebrations make a comeback after a year's break.

Aurelie Lalande, co-founder, Café Plume, a French patisserie, plans to reinvent a classic French pastry, the choux, along with proposing a box of three choux in colours of the French national flag. "For our National Day, we are presenting the choux in blueberry, vanilla, and raspberry, representing the French colours of blue, white, and red," says the baker.

Chloé Vander Elst's family, who has been living in Bengaluru for five years, will be heading to the French consulate for a community celebration on Thursday evening. "It will be an opportunity to meet other French people over a glass of wine and good cheese," says the business specialist at an international furniture store.

Chloé Vander Elst

For most French nationals, celebrating Bastille Day in a foreign country is a way to connect with their history and heritage. One of them is tech-company founder Emilien Coquard, for whom the I-Day celebrations became a tradition after he moved to India. "Back in France, it was a regular day off. My grandparents, though, would never miss the military parade on TV," he says. Coquard adds that the Bastille Day celebration in Bengaluru is one of the highlights of the year for French nationals. "The Consulate organises a reception where we get to connect with our community, exchange stories and most importantly, share our love for India and France. The Consulate General starts by delivering an address and plays our national anthem. Only then does the dinner start – delicious French food and lots of wine. We're French after all," quips the 31-year-old.

As part of the celebrations, European restaurant Amiel Gourmet, in Sahakar Nagar, is presenting a menu for the day. Amiel Claude Guerin, executive chef and founder tries making July 14 a memorable day. "The special delicacies include a traditional onion soup, foie gras, salade composee of heirloom tomato, buttermilk ranch, watercress, and sourdough. Agnolotti, made with small pieces of flattened pasta dough, snapper meuniere, and coq au vin, a French dish of chicken braised with wine, lardons, mushrooms, and optionally garlic, are all part of the main course," Guerin says. And not to forget, the dessert menu comprises Opera cake, prepared with almond cake soaked in coffee syrup, and layered with buttercream, and ganache.

Maud Le Bars from Brittany, France, eagerly looks forward to the celebration, so she can meet and build a French network. "Back home, we would enjoy the eatery shows and the view of fireworks. In India, we are meeting for the first time post the pandemic, and I am looking forward to indulging in authentic French wine and delicacies," says Le Bars, south asia area manager for Rennes School of Business.

QUICK FIX

CORN PATTIES

Contributed by: Rachel Abraham, Kottayam

INGREDIENTS

■ Corn: 2 cups ■ Corn flour: 1/4 cup ■ All purpose flour: 1/4 cup ■ Pepper powder: 1/2 tsp ■ Salt as needed ■ Green chilli: 2 ■ Garlic: 5 cloves ■ Coriander leaves: 1/2 cup ■ Onion: 1 ■ Oil for deep frying

METHOD

- Microwave frozen corn or fresh ones for about three minutes.
- Blend onion, green chilli, coriander leaves, and garlic coarsely.
- Combine flour, corn flour, salt and pepper powder with cooked corn. Then add the ground paste and mix it well. Add a small amount of water to get the right consistency.
- Heat the wok with oil and make patties from the mixture. Deep fry the patties until golden brown in colour.
- Drain it on tissue paper to absorb extra oil. Corn patties are ready. Serve hot with your favourite sauce or green chutney.

FIT BIT

Ashta chandrasana variation arms forward

(Crescent high lunge pose variation arms forward)

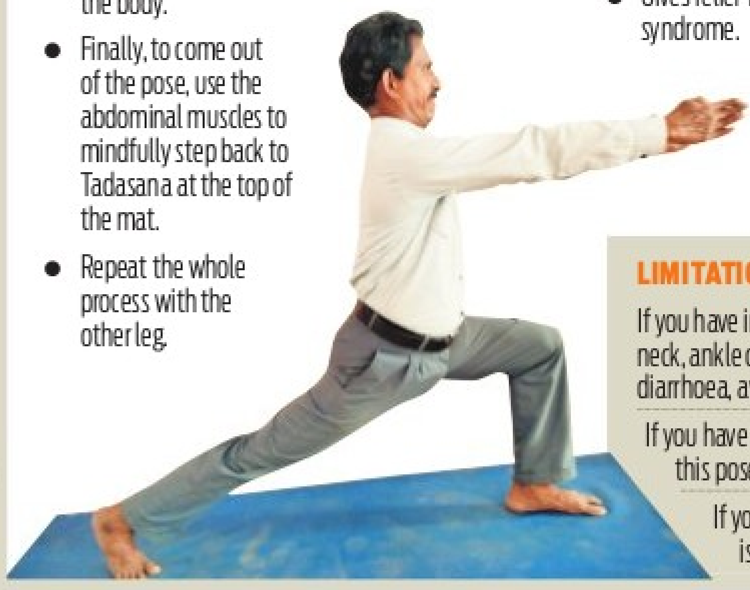
It is a high lunge that lengthens the sides of the body and opens the hips. For beginners, this is a great introduction to lunges, particularly before Virabhadrasana B. This asana is also useful for developing a sense of stability and balance, both physical and spiritual. It activates the Muladhara (root) chakra.

STEPS

- Begin in Tadasana (Mountain Pose). On exhalation, bend the left knee and extend the arms in front of you in a Prayer Pose.
- Now, stretch your arms, stretch your back legs, bend the front leg, take the shoulders back, chin up and head straight.
- Be aware of your breathing, exhale completely and stand to be in balance.
- Push your left foot firmly towards the ground, and balance the back leg on the toes.
- Then, feel the stretch at the back leg muscles, the front knee and ankle, and the shoulders.
- Keep the belly engaged and the chest strong and straight. Stay here for three breaths.
- In a flow, the standing hip openers are a great way to build confidence and strength in the body.
- Finally, to come out of the pose, use the abdominal muscles to mindfully step back to Tadasana at the top of the mat.
- Repeat the whole process with the other leg.

BENEFITS

- Helps to strengthen and stretch legs and hips.
- Improves balance and concentration.
- Regular practice helps to open shoulders and chest.
- Energises the body and strengthens will power.
- Regular practice relieves lower back pain and sciatica.
- More useful for grounding oneself.
- Keeps your mind calm and helps to relieve stress.
- Stimulates abdominal organs and improves digestion.
- Gives relief from carpal tunnel syndrome.
- Promotes peace, courage, and good luck.



LIMITATIONS

If you have injuries in hip, shoulder, neck, ankle or knee, and high BP or diarrhoea, avoid this pose.

If you have arthritis, avoid this pose.

If you have any balance issues consult an expert.

SCARED OF SCARS?

Scar revision by surgical techniques like excision, Z-plasty, and fat augmentation can be employed after careful assessments

DR (CAPT) Y N ANANTHESWAR

TIME and again, scars have been part of the social commentary for a wide variety of reasons. They have been variously described as symbols of valour, silent witnesses to misery, or the relics of plain misfortune. In the present era, however, a scar is often regarded as undesirable – a blemish which requires treatment. Plastic surgeons deal with a wide variety of scars – post-surgical, traumatic, post-infective or even as sequelae of other interventions. The treatment modalities vary as much as the types of scars.

Vast majority of patients with scars are worried about the outcome. They are a logical outcome of a healing process, following damage to the skin. If the superficial layer is damaged, healing occurs by regeneration, leaving almost no scar. However, if the deep layer is damaged, it happens by repair, which means a scar is inevitable.

Most scars heal uneventfully leading to a fine linear scar. However, in some cases, overhealing happens which results in keloid or hypertrophic scars. Patients come to plastic surgeons to remove the scar completely, which is next to impossible. They are often frustrated because of their appearance, repeated questions by others like, "What happened?", or "Why are you not getting it removed?" Some of the scars are sinister in appearance leading to difficulty in employment.

Most of the patients need reassurance and generally every scar will improve in about 1-2 years. Scars need time to mature before planning a scar revision. Treatment of scars can be by non-invasive techniques like medications, massage, silicone gel sheet application, pressure garments, and lasers. All scars are not managed well by lasers. Careful selection of patients is mandatory to achieve good results.

Scar revision by surgical techniques like excision, Z-plasty, fat augmentation and microdermabrasion can be employed in suitable patients after careful assessments which provide predictable results.

It is a misconception that plastic surgeons do scar-less surgery. It has to be emphasised that by placing the scars in relaxed skin tension lines, or hidden areas, the appearance can be minimised. However, it must be remembered that a scar is a logical outcome of any injury or surgery. Nobody can do a scar-less surgery. However, plastic surgeons can do a 'less scar' surgery.

GIVING THE GUT ITS DUE GLORY

Keeping your gut healthy is important for the overall fitness of your body. Here are diseases to look out for and immediate treatment

DIYA MARIA GEORGE

IT is the constant temptation from food delivery apps, enticing food reels, discount codes from our favourite vloggers, and the pain of battling in the kitchen, which makes us choose fast food over a nutritious home-cooked meal. Yes, sometimes it's okay to blame the world around us for ruining our fitness goals. But while making these unhealthy choices, we often forget that our tummies are tender and can scream at us if we don't take care of them. "Gut health — the physical condition and physiological operation of the various components of the gastrointestinal system — determines your overall health and immunity. A healthy gut is a healthy you," shares Dr Shubha Vivekan, consultant gastroenterologist, liver disease specialist and endoscopist.

With inputs from Dr Vivekan, here is a curated list of the prevalent gut diseases, diagnosis, their symptoms, the common foods to avoid and include for a healthy gut.

DISEASE

Gastroesophageal reflux disease or GERD

WHAT IS IT? The junction between the oesophagus and stomach is lax causing reflux of acid and food into the food pipe or oesophagus.

SYMPTOMS: Heartburn, dry cough, breathing difficulty.

DIET WATCH

Foods to avoid: Tobacco in all forms, alcohol, refined flour, refined sugar, processed food from packets, processed meat, high fat dairy, excess oil and spice, caffeine in moderation, check for intolerance and maintain a food diary.

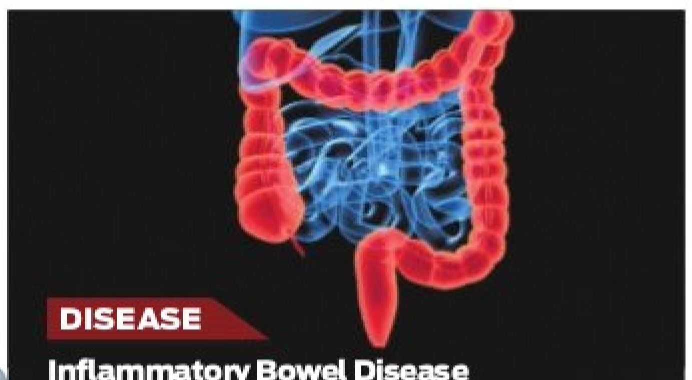
Foods to include: Fermented food like yoghurt, buttermilk, pazhaya sadam (leftover rice), fresh fruits and lots of fresh vegetables. Include a portion of whole grains like millets, whole wheat and native rice varieties. Drink at least 3-4 litres of water daily, and eat low fat dairy products like seeds and nuts.

DISEASE

PEPTIC ULCER DISEASE

WHAT IS IT? Diagnosed with endoscopy, in this condition, there is an ulcer in the gastric mucosa or lining of the stomach, which can be due to several reasons, but the most common being infection with H.pylori, painkillers or steroid intake, and stress.

SYMPTOMS: Depending on the site, the individual can experience abdominal pain either before or after meals, weight loss, and anaemia, if there is bleeding. Every condition needs detailed evaluation as it can progress to malignancy.



DISEASE

Inflammatory Bowel Disease

WHAT IS IT? An autoimmune mediated condition, which can present as Crohn's disease or Ulcerative colitis.

SYMPTOMS: Altered bowel habits, bleeding in stool, weight loss, anaemia and abdominal pain. In such patients, a detailed evaluation along with endoscopy, colonoscopy, and scans may be required to get a proper diagnosis. Such patients need to be monitored life long for getting into remission.

DISEASE

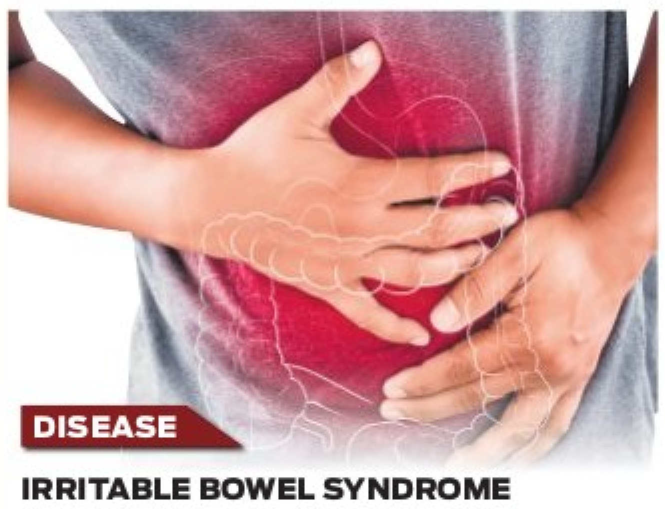
CANCERS OF THE GASTROINTESTINAL TRACT

WHAT IS IT? All malignancies of the digestive tract, including those of the stomach, large and small intestines, pancreas, colon, liver, rectum, anus, and biliary system, are referred to as gastrointestinal (GI) cancers. If there is a family history, then early surveillance is important.

ALARM SIGNS FOR CANCER

"These are red flags which should not be ignored. Consult with your gastroenterologist if you have the following, at the earliest," says Dr Shubha.

Unintentional weight loss
Appetite loss
Any bleeding from your stools
Blood in vomitus
Alterations in bowel pattern
Difficulty swallowing
Abdomen bloating or distention
Jaundice or anaemia in routine health checks



DISEASE

IRRITABLE BOWEL SYNDROME

WHAT IS IT? Digestive issues related to psychosomatic issues, stress or sleep disturbance.

SYMPTOMS: Change in bowel frequency and consistency. Can present with a range of symptoms like diarrhoea or constipation along with abdominal pain. Often diagnostic tests are normal and the patient's symptoms get relieved with lifestyle changes along with medication.

Viral infection link with cancer

THE cancer-causing Epstein Barr Virus (EBV), can infect the neuronal cells and drive changes in biomolecules such as fatty acids, carbohydrates, and protein components, leading to diseases of the central nervous system as well as brain cancer, scientists have found.

The EBV virus has been found to be present in the human population. It usually does not cause any harm, but the virus gets reactivated inside the body in some unusual conditions like immunological stress or immunocompetence. This may further lead to various complications like a type of blood cancer called Burkitt's lymphoma, stomach cancer, and multiple sclerosis. Earlier, studies provided links of EBV involvement in various neurodegenerative diseases. However, how this virus can affect the cells of the brain and manipulate them is still unexplored. – IANS

Yash

YASH19 IS STILL A MYSTERY

A SHARADHAA

FOLLOWING the success of the KGF franchise, Yash has definitely reached superstardom across the country. His persona has gained him millions of fans, and even his iconic beard has its separate fandom.

The pan-India Star's next move is being keenly watched by fans and industry insiders alike, and nobody better than Yash will know the impact of the announcement of his next.

There is a lot of buzz surrounding his upcoming project, and it is speculated that the biggest filmmakers and biggest banners of the country have been approaching the actor with different stories. However, a source close to the actor himself shares that Yash, who has been tight-lipped, hasn't yet given the green light for any script.

We had earlier reported that Mufti director Narthan was working on a script for Yash, and our sources share that he has presented a variety of stories to the actor, who is very calculative about his next film.

With Yash's next continuing to be shrouded in mystery, it looks like the actor's fans have to wait a little longer for an official confirmation about Yash19.

The Rocking Star continues to maintain an aura of secrecy around his next project

GANESH BACK TO SMALL SCREEN

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Ganesh is making his comeback to the small screen by hosting iSmart Jodi, a reality show featuring couples, and is essentially about love, relationships, and marriage. The show's title song composed by All Ok will be launched on July 16, and it will be aired on Star Suvarna every weekend at 9 PM. Ganesh is known for his stint in TV shows. He became popular as a host of the show, Comedy Time. He has also been part of shows like Super Minute and Golden Gang.

Meanwhile, Ganesh is busy shooting for Baanadariyalli, a romantic drama directed by Preetham Gubbi. The film has its story written by cinematographer Preetha Jayaraman. It stars Rukmini Vasanth and Reeshma Nanaiah as the heroines. The film's music is composed by V Harikrishna, and Abhilash Kalathi is handling the cinematography.

Ganesh is also waiting for the release of Tribble Riding, directed by Mahesh Gowda.

'Opinion of audience about Petromax will change once they enter the theatres'

Director Vijayaprasad talks about his upcoming comedy satire starring Sathish Ninasam and Haripriya, slated to release this week

A still from Petromax

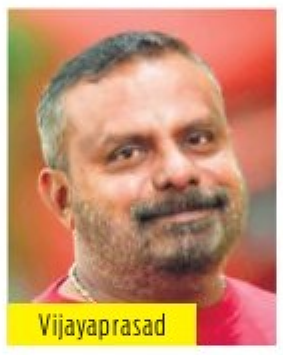
CE FEATURES

VIJAYAPRASAD, the director of Siddlingu, Neer Dose, and upcoming Totapuri, has got his film Petromax releasing this July 15. With every film, he created a signature for himself with bold content and double-entendre dialogues.

The latest trailer of Petromax features the lead actors Sathish Ninasam and Hariprriya in scant clothes and indulging in a post-sex conversation. Though the reaction of the audience was mixed for the promo, it clearly kindled their curiosity.

Director Vijayaprasad feels that dialogues are one of the strongest factors of his films. "I don't consider them double-entendres, they are just mischievous conversations, between a couple, or two people who share a bong. As a filmmaker, I always see comedy as the biggest tool to entertain the audience. I intend to blend a socially relevant issue with humour. People who are opposing the bold content will change their views once they enter the theatres."



Vijayaprasad

Petromax, according to Vijayaprasad symbolises light and life. He also states that Petromax known as lantern also denotes prostitution. "There is a certain way to reach the audience without getting preachy. It was the case with Neer Dose and will be the same with Petromax too. There is a certain section of the audience, who believes in my content and making. The rest who have a misconception will change their mind once they watch my work."

The story of Petromax revolves around four orphans, and how their journey together encapsulates elements of comedy and emotions. The film is jointly produced under Sathish Pictures, Studio 18, and Petromax Pictures. It has music by Anoop Seelin and cinematography by Niranjan Babu.

Petromax's cast also includes Nagabhushana, Karunya Ram, and Arun Kumar. The film has Suman Ranganath in a special appearance and Vijay Lakshmi Singh playing a unique role.

I CONNECTED WITH BENKI FOR ITS CLIMAX: ANISSH

Ahead of the film's release on July 15, the actor spoke about the need for exploring different genre

Shruti Patil

Anissh and Samapada Hulivana in a still from Benki

CE FEATURES

ANISSH created his own space in Sandalwood with films like Police Quarters, Nam Areal Ond Dina, Akira, and Ramarjuna. However, there came a stage in his film career when he felt the need for exploring different genres, and his upcoming film, Benki takes him through that path.

Anissh, who wanted to take a break from the typical love-based subjects, chose Benki because it highlighted the brother-sister sentiment. Anissh shares that it was monotonous to be part of just love stories, and Benki will bring a change to him as an actor and the audience. "Apart from the core subject of brother-sister relationship, Benki also has a beautiful romantic track. This is also the first time I am acting in a film set in a village," says Anissh.

A R Shaan, the son of noted filmmaker AR Babu, is making his debut with Benki, and Anissh shares that the film was narrated to him just before the release of his previous film, Ramarjuna. "I got connected with the story of Benki for its climax. The last 40 minutes are filled with gripping sequences and intense action, which will also be one of the highlights of this commercial entertainer," says Anissh.

Benki has been shot in different parts of Karnataka, and Anissh shares that it was a deliberate decision to explore new locations to add a distinct flavour to the film.

Benki features Shruti Patil in the sister's role and Samapada Hulivana as Anissh's love interest. Chandra Keerthi, the hero, and director of Tootumadike will be seen as a prominent character in Benki.

Explaining his reasoning behind casting Anissh, Shaan says, "Anissh is an actor who is capable of doing complete justice to every character. I thought he could pull off the role of a village youth, and he has done a good job."

Shaan shares that he learned the art of filmmaking from his father and guru AR Babu. "Content should be a priority, and the foundation of any film comes with good story writing. These were basic and important tips I got from my father, and I have tried to implement it in my first film, Benki."

Benki made under Anish's Winkwhistle Productions banner has Anand Raja Vikram scoring music, and cinematography by Venus Nagaraj Murthy. Action and editing are taken care of by Vikram Mor, and Umesh RB, respectively.

Bollywood has a crisis of courage, not opportunities: Taapsee Pannu

SHILAJIT MITRA

TAAPSEE Pannu, like many self-proclaimed fans of cricket, wasn't exactly watching women's cricket. That changed when, in 2017, she read of Mithali Raj's famous repartee to a journalist, who'd asked the former Indian skipper to name her favourite male cricketer. "Do you ask the same question to a male cricketer?" Mithali had snapped, a reply that rightly made headlines and turned out to be the kind of dissent that sportswomen sometimes seem to need, in order to have the world take notice of them. "Until then I was also one of those people guilty of not watching," Taapsee, who plays Mithali in her forthcoming biopic, Shabaash Mithu, says. "Mithali became my window into women's cricket because of what she spoke and stood for."

Taapsee first met Mithali at an awards function in Chennai. After the biopic was announced, they could only interact once or twice. "It was during the pandemic; so, she was either in a bubble or playing a tournament or training for the 2022 World Cup," Taapsee recalls. As a replacement, she had to rely on Mithali's teammates—such as bowler Nooshin Al Khadeer, Mithali's best friend of 23 years—for inputs. Taapsee apparently threw herself hard into the training. Having never played cricket before, she tried learning the sport in character, adopting Mithali's stance, backlift and footwork. Even the cricketer's pre-match rituals, like putting the left pad on before the right, became hers.

Batting was another matter altogether. Imitating Mithali Raj's fierce and flamboyant batting style was no joke, and Taapsee, surrounded by actual state-level cricketers in the supporting cast, had to really up her game. "For me, the toughest shot to do was the square cut. The timing of it was hard. I wouldn't let the ball come to my side. I would always end up hitting it earlier." Also, it didn't help that there's little visual record of Mithali's early career. "We are portraying her from ages 16 to 36, but there's no visual before 2006-2007, when the BCCI took over (women's cricket). Whereas for a film like 83, they had clear footage to rely on."

This, like Mithali's 'favourite cricketer' response, or the fact that there were just three teams in the Women's T20 Challenge (it's being replaced by a full-scale Women's IPL from 2023), illustrates a wider bias towards men's cricket in India, Taapsee feels. "Changes are happening, but we needed to acknowledge this problem. If we really love cricket, it shouldn't matter which gender is holding the bat."

Taapsee Pannu

While sounding enthusiastic for Shabaash Mithu, and hoping it changes things for the better, Taapsee also expresses some weariness about the sports film genre. A third of her recent Hindi projects have been sports films, in fact. Even two that weren't—2018's Manmarziyaan and 2022's Looop Lapeta—had her playing protagonists with an athletic background. "Whenever I get a script or character sketch now about a sportsperson, I just shut it these days," concedes Taapsee, who's been offered swimmers, cyclists, shot putters and footballers in the past. "It's become too physically and mentally taxing for me. So, I need a pause."

With no less than six other films in the offing, that's a minor concession in Taapsee's buzzing filmography. The most exciting of these, of course, is Dunki, Rajkumar Hirani's film starring Shah Rukh Khan. The film's first schedule was wrapped up last month, with the film said to be a cross-border immigration drama with a message.

We ask Taapsee if SRK spoke about his favourite film of hers. "For all obvious reasons, it should be Badla (laughs), since he produced it, and it made a lot of money. He keeps mentioning my films to other people. I love Chak De! India of his. It's my favourite Hindi film of all-time."

After Shabaash Mithu, Taapsee has Anurag Kashyap's Dobaaraa for release. The Manmarziyaan duo has reunited for a sci-fi tale about a mother and a young boy. The film, adapted from the Spanish-language Mirage (2018), premiered at the London Indian Film Festival, and is headed for the Fantasia Festival in Montreal this week. "No other director has the stardom of Anurag Kashyap at film festivals," Taapsee says. "Even in scenes where he is trying to hide a mistake, people find some meaning. There's a different level of obsession with his work."

Last year, Taapsee floated her production banner, Outsiders Films, with Pranjal Khandhdiya. Their maiden venture, the psychological thriller Blurr, starring Taapsee and Gulshan Devaiah, will release this year. She has also backed Dhak Dhak (a road trip film with an all-female cast) and is producing a film starring Samantha Ruth Prabhu. After over a decade in the industry, how liberating has turning producer been? "It's liberating for a few days," Taapsee says, laughing. "Most of the time though, I feel a lot of responsibility and pressure. I am discovering new aspects to the industry. There is so much that goes on behind the scenes."

Such as? "Well, for example, a lot of people used to call me brave for choosing films like Pink. It seemed like a no-brainer to me. But when you are a producer and you go into the market to pitch these films to cast and crew, the kind of reactions you get… not everyone is ready to take that kind of responsibility. That was an eye-opener for me, as someone who used to think that the industry was lacking in opportunities. Not everyone has the courage, it seems."
